MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE SOUTH AFRICAN RED CROSS SOCIETY AND LEGAL PROTECTION OF CERTAIN EMBLEMS BILL, 2006

Statutory Recognition of the South African Red Cross Society

1.1.1 The Republic of South Africa is party to the following Geneva Conventions of 12 August 1949:

- (a) The Geneva Convention for the Amelioration of the Condition of the Wounded and Sick in Armed Forces in the Field (Convention I);
- (b) the Geneva Convention for the Amelioration of the Condition of Wounded, Sick and Shipwrecked Members of Armed Forces at Sea (Convention II);
- (c) the Geneva Convention relative to the Treatment of Prisoners of War (Convention III); and
- (d) the Geneva Convention relative to the Protection of Civilian Persons in Time of War (Convention IV).

1.1.2 The Republic is also party to two Protocols additional to the said Conventions, viz.—

- (a) the Protocol relating to the Protection of Victims of International Armed Conflicts (Protocol I); and
- (b) the Protocol relating to the Protection of Victims of Non-International Armed Conflicts (Protocol II).

1.1.3 On 8 December 2005 a diplomatic conference of the States party to the Conventions adopted the Protocol relating to the Adoption of an Additional Distinctive Emblem (Protocol III). In terms of that Protocol a third emblem, viz. “the red crystal”, was adopted as an additional emblem. The Republic has as yet not ratified Protocol III.

(The Conventions and Protocols referred to in paragraph 1.1.2 are hereinafter jointly referred to as “the Conventions”).¹

1.2 The Conventions emphasise the importance of the International Committee of the Red Cross (the main body of the Red Cross Movement), as well as the importance of national Red Cross societies in relation to humanitarian activities, not only in times of war but also in times of peace. (Those bodies, together with the International Federation of Red Cross Societies, make up the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement.) The role the Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement plays during times of war and disasters is well known; it includes caring for the victims and for people in distress, without any partiality.

1.3 The Conventions require parties thereto to recognise a national Red Cross society or other voluntary societies in order for them to perform functions required by the Conventions². This Bill seeks to grant that recognition to the South African Red Cross Society (“the Society”).

1.4 Clauses 2 to 5 contain the recognition sought and give the parameters within which the Society must perform its functions. The Bill does not seek to enumerate the functions of the Society³, since they are to be found in various documents—more may be also added in time to come.

Protection of the emblems of the Conventions

2.1 The Conventions recognise three emblems: The red cross, the red crescent moon and the red lion and sun. The emblem of the red lion and sun, however, fell into disuse.

2.2.1 In terms of the Conventions the following main uses of the emblems are sanctioned:⁴

- (a) Use as a sign that persons or equipment fall under the protection of the Conventions; and
- (b) use to show that persons or equipment are connected to the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement.

1. The Conventions can be accessed from the following website: <http://www.icrc.org/Web/Eng/siteeng0.nsf/html/genevaconventions>

2. See e.g. Article 26 of Convention I.

3. See Clause 4 of the Bill.

4. See e.g. Article 44 of Convention I.

2.2.2 The Conventions also authorise the competent authority of a country to permit the use of the emblem in certain circumstances.⁵ The Conventions furthermore authorise the use of the emblems without direct reference to their protective or indicative use mentioned in paragraph 2.2.1.⁶

2.3 In terms of the Conventions and the Protocols thereto⁷ the improper use of the emblems or their designations or imitations thereof are prohibited. The Conventions furthermore require parties to the Conventions to “take measures necessary for the prevention and repression, at all times”, of any misuse of the emblems and their designations.⁸

2.4 Clauses 6 to 10 seek of the Bill to give effect to the matters mentioned above by—

- (a) listing the emblems protected (Clause 6);
- (b) authorising the use of the emblems under certain circumstances (Clause 7);
- (c) requiring the Ministers involved to oversee compliance with the Conventions in relation to the emblems and requiring the Society to assist those Ministers (Clause 8);
- (d) creating the offence of misuse of the emblems and providing for a penalty in that respect (Clause 9); and
- (e) authorising the seizure of articles used in violation of the envisaged Act (Clause 10).

2.5.1 It should be added that Clause 9 of the Bill does not seek to cover a “grave breach”, or war crime, in relation to the misuse of the emblems, which is referred to in Article 85(3)(f), read with Article 37 of Protocol I. Article 85(3)(f) covers the act of using the emblems in a manner which wilfully misleads a person to believe that he or she is entitled to, or obliged to accord, protection under the rules of international law applicable in armed conflict, resulting in death or serious injury.

2.5.2 The said grave breach is already covered by the Implementation of the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court Act, 2002 (Act No. 27 of 2002) (“the Rome Statute Act”). That Act criminalises inter alia “serious violations of the laws and customs applicable in international armed conflict . . .”, which violations constitute war crimes.⁹ Those violations include—

- (a) making improper use of the red cross and red crescent emblems resulting in death or serious personal injury; and
- (b) intentionally directing attacks against buildings, material, medical units and transport, and personnel using the red cross and red crescent emblems.¹⁰

2.5.3 In terms of section 4(1) of the Rome Statute Act a person found guilty of committing a war crime “is liable on conviction to a fine or imprisonment, including imprisonment for life, or such imprisonment without the option of a fine, or both a fine and such imprisonment”. Should an alleged offender not be prosecuted for that crime, the matter is, in terms of section 5(5) of that Act, referred to the International Criminal Court at The Hague in the Netherlands, which then has jurisdiction over the matter.

General

3.1 Clauses 11 and 12 are of a general nature and seek to authorise the delegation of functions and the making of regulations, respectively.

3.2 Since the Bill deals with matters that are to a certain extent already covered by the Rome Statute Act, it is necessary to make it clear that the envisaged Act should not be interpreted as limiting or amending the Rome Statute Act. Clause 13 seeks to achieve that objective.

3.3 Clause 14 is a savings clause which covers the case where a person is currently using the emblem, which use will, in future, be illegal. Such a person may apply to the

5. See, e.g., Article 39 of Convention I; and Article 18(4) of Protocol I.

6. See, e.g., Article 36 of Convention I, Article 44 of the same Convention in so far as it relates to “international Red Cross organizations and their duly authorized personnel”, and Article 22 of Convention IV.

7. See, e.g., Article 54 of Convention I and Article 38 of Protocol I.

8. See, e.g., Article 54 of Convention I.

9. See section 4(1), read with paragraph (b)(vii) and (xxiv) of the definition of “warcrimes”, contained in Part 3 of Schedule 1 to the Rome Statute Act.

10. In terms of paragraph (e)(ii) of the definition mentioned in the previous footnote the violation mentioned in paragraph 2.5.2 (b) is also committed if it occurs during an “armed conflict not of an international character”.

Minister of Health to continue using an emblem. The Minister may approve the use if the continued use would not constitute a misuse of the emblem within the ambit of the objects of the envisaged Act and the Conventions.

3.4 Clause 15 seeks to repeal Government Notice No. 937 of 1915. That notice sought to protect the red cross emblem, but was based on the predecessor to the Conventions, viz. the Convention for the amelioration of the condition of the wounded and sick of armies in the field of 1906. The proposed Bill covers the matters contained in the Notice.

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

6.1 The State Law Advisers and the Department of Health are of the opinion that this Bill must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure prescribed by section 75 of the Constitution since it contains no provision to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.

6.2 The State Law Advisers are of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer this Bill to the National House of Traditional Leaders in terms of section 18(1)(a) of the Traditional Leadership and Governance Framework Act, 2003 (Act No. 41 of 2003), since it does not contain provisions pertaining to customary law or customs of traditional communities.
