Short title

34. This Act is called the Banks Amendment Act, 2007, and comes into operation on 1 January 2008.

MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE BANKS AMENDMENT BILL, 2007

1. BACKGROUND TO BILL

- 1.1 On 26 June 2004 the International Basel Committee on Banking Supervision published an amended capital framework for banks entitled “International Convergence of Capital Measurement and Capital Standards: A Revised Framework”, generally referred to and known as “Basel II”. The primary objective of Basel II is to replace the 1988 Capital Accord to further strengthen the soundness and stability of the international banking system by the adoption of stronger risk management practices by the banking industry. Basel II has important implications for the capital frameworks of banks and the regulatory framework and supervisory processes applicable to banks.
- 1.2 Given the potential negative effects of not implementing Basel II on the South African banking industry, it is prudent to implement Basel II in its entirety and to amend the legal framework to facilitate its implementation.
- 1.3 An Accord Implementation Forum (“AIF”) was established to manage and co-ordinate the implementation of Basel II. The Registrar of Banks chairs the Steering Committee of the AIF and its members include delegates from National Treasury, various departments of the South African Reserve Bank, the banks and the auditing profession. The Regulatory Framework Sub-Committee (“RFSC”) of the Steering Committee was tasked to review the current legal framework relating to banks and to identify necessary amendments to give effect to Basel II.
- 1.4 The RFSC identified a number of amendments to the Banks Act, 1990 (Act No. 94 of 1990) (the Act), that are necessary to give effect to Basel II and assisted the Office of the Registrar of Banks in the drafting of the draft Banks Amendment Bill. The Bill is thus the result of an inclusive and consultative process between National Treasury, the Office of the Registrar of Banks, the banking industry and other role-players since 2004.
- 1.5 The proposed implementation date for Basel II is 1 January 2008. To achieve implementation by this date it is important to promulgate the amendments well in advance as the amendments will require the banks and the Office of the Registrar of Banks to effect crucial information technology system changes to be able to implement the amendments.
- 1.6 The Bill primarily contains amendments to the Act necessitated by the revised Framework on International Convergence of Capital Measurement and Capital Standards published by the International Basel Committee on 26 June 2004. Additional amendments that have become necessary since the Act was last amended in 2003 due to industry developments or to clarify certain provisions are also proposed.
- 1.7 In summary, the Basel II amendments aim to create a sufficiently robust regulatory environment that will enable the Registrar to properly discharge his or her respective role and responsibilities in respect of banks, controlling companies and banking groups on a solo, cross-border or consolidated basis. The Act is strengthened pertaining to the supervision of banks and in particular as it relates to the following aspects:
 - 1.7.1 Regulation of all relevant banks and banking groups on a consolidated basis;
 - 1.7.2 stating the respective roles and responsibilities of consolidating and host supervisors;
 - 1.7.3 providing for cooperation and sharing of information between supervisors;

- 1.7.4 clarifying the responsibilities of banks, banking groups and boards of directors of banks and banking groups;
 - 1.7.5 increasing the reporting requirements of and providing comprehensive disclosure requirements for banks and banking groups;
 - 1.7.6 facilitating the various options available to banks and banking groups in calculating minimum capital requirements in respect of credit risk exposure, market risk exposure and operational risk exposure; and
