MEMORANDUM ON OBJECTS OF MINE HEALTH AND SAFETY AMENDMENT BILL, 2013*1. BACKGROUND

1.1 The setting, monitoring and enforcement of health and safety standards within the South African mining industry is regulated under the Mine Health and Safety Act 1996, (Act No. 29 of 1996) (the Act). The Department of Mineral Resources (Department) embarked on a process of reviewing and proposing amendments to the Act. The Act promotes the objective of protecting the health and safety of persons at mines. The Act came into operation on 15 January 1997. Over the years, with the developments in the industry, some challenges and shortcomings relating to the enforcement of the Act have been identified.

1.2 The Act is premised on the principle that the responsibility of the health and safety lies with the employers or owners of the mines, hence the outcome based approach, which focuses on outputs (results) rather than rule driven and prescriptive approach of the previous regulatory system under the now repealed Minerals Act, 1991.

1.3 The enforcement and ordering of compliance within the Act forms the core business of the Mine Health and Safety Inspectorate, a core branch within the Department. In enforcing the Act, the Chief Inspector of Mines and various other inspectors have wide statutory powers. Inspectors are empowered to enter any mine at any time, conduct inspections for the purpose of monitoring or enforcing compliance. If dissatisfied with the conditions, they may order compliance and request that conditions be improved. It is further within their powers to recommend prosecution when an offence has been committed.

2. OBJECTS OF BILL

2.1 The Mine Health and Safety Amendment Bill (Bill) seeks to amend the Act so as to review the enforcement provisions, simplify the fine system and strengthen offences and penalties. It also seeks to substitute, add certain definitions and expressions to remove ambiguities, effect certain amendments necessary to ensure consistency with other laws, particularly the Mineral and Petroleum Resources Development Act, 2002 (Act No. 28 of 2002).

2.2 The Bill further seeks to harmonise the administrative processes in the Act with sound administrative practices taking into consideration the objects of the Promotion of Administrative Justice Act, 2000 (Act No.3 of 2000).

2.3 Occupational health and safety policy, prevention, research and enforcement arrangements within the mining industry in South Africa are regulated under the Act. The Act is administered by the Department through the Mine Health and Safety Inspectorate.

2.4 The Bill is of high priority to the Department and Government in general especially in light of the challenges relating to health and safety and the urgent need to improve health and safety standards in order to curb the high number of fatalities that the industry is currently experiencing. The amendment is essential to ensure the effective implementation, enforcement and improvement of health and safety standards at mines, thereby reducing fatality rates and occupational diseases.

2.5 The purpose of the Bill is therefore to address not only the provisions relating to offences and penalties but to align the Act to other pieces of legislation promulgated post 1996, that impact on the implementation of the Act such as the Mineral and Petroleum Resources Development Act.
