COMMENTS: INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT BILL

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1. Transnet SOC Ltd ("Transnet") wishes to express its appreciation for being afforded the opportunity to comment on the Infrastructure Development Bill (hereinafter referred to as "the Bill").

1.2. Transnet supports the objectives of the Bill which seeks to:

- 1.2.1. provide for the facilitation and co-ordination of infrastructure which is of significant economic or social importance to the Republic;
- 1.2.2. ensure that infrastructure development in the Republic is given priority in planning, approval and implementation, and
- 1.2.3. ensure that development goals of the State are promoted through infrastructure development.

1.3. Transnet leads Strategic Integrated Projects 2 and understands and supports the need for the State to facilitate and co-ordinate critical infrastructure development. Without facilitation and co-ordination of these projects, infrastructure development may continue to fall behind demand. Transnet also supports the need to ensure that development goals of the State are promoted through infrastructure development. Transnet therefore understands the spirit behind the need to legislate the powers of Presidential Infrastructure Coordinating Commission ("PICC") so as to accelerate infrastructure development.

2. SPECIFIC COMMENTS

2.1. Ad Clause 4

- 2.1.1. Clarity is requested regarding the coordination role that the Commission would perform in relation to the identification of strategic international partners with which to conclude agreements in terms of Ad Clause 4(f). Is it intended that the Commission would identify international entities as service providers to be utilized at the discretion of the organ of state or is it intended that it would be a prescriptive list of entities that organs of state are to contract with.
- 2.1.2. Paragraph (i) may be construed as implying that all proposals for infrastructure development and maintenance initiatives have to be considered by the Commission. If this is indeed the case, this provision has the potential to unduly delay infrastructure development projects and maintenance initiatives that are planned in the ordinary course of business. If this result was not intended, consideration may be given to the following wording for paragraph (i):

"(i) consider proposals for infrastructure development and maintenance that may qualify for designation as strategic integrated projects;"

2.2. Ad Clause 5

It is not clear whether the Commission would be expropriating land or any right in respect of land in its own name or on behalf of another entity. In so far as the Commission may be acting in its own name in this regard, clarity is required regarding the legal standing and legal personality of the Commission. In this regard it should also be borne in mind that the Commission is not a representative of Government as a Minister would be (cf. section 85(2) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996). The current provisions of this clause would also not allow the Commission to expropriate land on behalf of a public entity.

2.3. Ad Clause 8

Clarity is required as to the meaning of “capacity” as used in this context. In order to avoid any undue consequences, it is recommended that this section be amended to include the requirement that the Commission must, in consultation with the relevant organ of state, determine whether the organ of state has capacity to implement the project or whether the project must be put to tender.

2.4. Ad Clause 10

In terms of Clause 7(3) of the Bill, the Commission must designate as Chairperson of a strategic integrated project, the Minister under whose portfolio such strategic integrated project falls. Consequently, clarity is required regarding the roles and responsibilities of the Chairperson of the strategic integrated project versus the roles and responsibilities of the Secretariat. It would be better placed if the functions as set out in subclauses (c) to (h) reside with the Chairperson of the strategic integrated project as designated in terms of Clause 7(3).

2.5. Ad Clause 12

Although the expressions “Accounting Officer or Accounting Authority” in subclause (4) are appropriately defined in clause 1 of the Bill, the preceding reference to “head of a public entity” is inconsistent with the meaning of the expression “accounting authority” where a public entity is governed by a board.

2.6. Ad Clause 13

In order to create legal certainty, consideration could be given to qualify subclause (3)(b) by excluding the public entity that gives rise to “public office” from the scope of “any business or organisation which would benefit financially from the strategic integrated project”. For example, where a public entity would derive revenue and profits from the development of strategic infrastructure, it may be construed that officials from that entity are precluded from serving on a steering committee. Consequently, the following wording for subclause (3)(b) may be considered:

"(b) if he or she has any direct or indirect interest in any business or organisation, which would in any manner whatsoever benefit financially from the strategic integrated project, other than the entity that gives rise to the public office."

2.7. Ad Clause 15

Clarity is required as to whom the applications are to be submitted to. The current wording of subclause (1) may be interpreted to mean that all applications must be simultaneously submitted to the steering committee for scrutiny (cf. subclause (2)(a) ) before the applications are forwarded "for consideration by the persons authorised by the relevant laws to take applicable decisions". If, on the other hand, subclause (1) is intended to require the simultaneous submission of applications to all the regulators involved, it should be borne in mind that, in principle, the Bill as a law of general application cannot override a specific law that requires consecutive actions for the processing of an application. It should further be borne in mind that the applications may be submitted at different stages having due regard to the information gathering process required for the particular application. Consequently, the following wording for subclause (1) may be considered:

"(1)When the steering committee has determined the approvals, authorisations, licences, permissions and exemptions required to enable the implementation of the strategic integrated project, it shall inform, without any delay, the applicant to submit all applications [simultaneously] expediently for consideration by the persons authorised by the relevant laws to take the applicable decisions."

2.8. Ad Clause 17

Application and authorisation processes usually require their own (and separate) public consultation processes. Where a project requires more than one application and authorisation process, it follows that the concomitant public consultation processes have a cumulative time delay effect on the roll-out of the project in question. In consequence, it is proposed that the provisions of this clause be strengthened by deeming a comprehensive public consultation process required under one law to satisfy the public consultation process requirements under other laws that apply to the same designated strategic integrated project. Further, clarity is required regarding the framework referring to in subclause (2), as Schedule 2 only refers to "Process and periods of time".

2.9. Ad Clause 21(b)

This section states that the Minister may, in consultation with the Commission make regulations regarding the criteria that must be applied in the implementation of a strategic integrated project, relating to skills development, green economy, employment creation, rural development and Broad- Based Black Economic Empowerment (B-BBEE). Firstly, in relation to the developmental criteria, the regulations made by the Minister must take into account the strict evaluation framework prescribed by the regulations issued in terms of the Preferential Procurement Policy Framework Act (PPPFA). Secondly, the Minister's power to make regulations with regard to B-BBEE must be reconciled to both the B-BBEE Act and the PPPFA as these two pieces of legislation have been aligned in this regard.

2.10. Ad Schedule 2

The short timelines reflected in this Schedule appear to be unrealistic. As indicated in paragraph 2.7 above, certain laws require consecutive actions, which also may impact the timelines suggested here.

By way of example, the public participation process as envisaged in terms of the Environmental Impact Assessment Regulations, 2010 requires an extensive consultation process which inter alia prescribes:

- Effective notice to all interested and affected parties, i.e. owners, occupier of property, neighbours, all local municipalities impacted by the SIP, all other governmental bodies impacted by the project;
- Particular measures to be implemented for consultation with disabled or illiterate members of the community / communities affected;
- Registration of interested parties for the public consultation process;
- Possible appeals against the findings of specialist studies conducted by communities; and
- Further possible appeals against the environmental authorization, once granted.

3. GENERAL COMMENTS

3.1. Transnet is currently involved in several projects that are referred to as "Strategic Infrastructure Programmes" ("SIP's"). In so far as Transnet would be participating in the envisaged steering committees, it should be borne in mind that Transnet remains a company (albeit owned by the State) that has to apply sound corporate governance principles as encapsulated in the Companies Act, 2008 (Act No. 71 of 2008) and the King Code of Governance for South Africa, 2009 ("King III"). It follows, therefore, that the Bill cannot anticipate any delegation to, or mandate of, a representative of Transnet on the envisaged steering committee (cf. clauses 12(6) and 20(4) of the Bill). Provisions such as clause 4(f) of the Bill, which may be interpreted as having the potential to undermine sound governance processes of State Owned Companies, should also be reviewed.

3.2. Whilst the overall scheme and purpose of the Bill to facilitate the roll-out of projects and development initiatives are to be commended, care should be taken not to compromise the governance arrangements of State Owned Companies and their ability to access affordable funding as a result of their sound governance and procurement practices.

4. We trust you find the above in order.

Kind regards

Brian Molefe

SUBJECT: INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT BILL 2013

---

PURPOSE:

1. The aim of this submission is to request that the Group Chief Executive approves the submission of Transnet's comments on the Infrastructure Development Bill 2013 (cf. Annexure "B") to the Department of Economic Development, attached hereto and marked Annexure "A".

BACKGROUND:

2. The Portfolio Committee on Economic Development has invited public comments on the Infrastructure Development Bill (hereinafter referred to as "the Bill") as published on 11 November 2013 by the Parliamentary Monitoring Group.
3. The Bill inter alia provides for:
  - 3.1. The continued existence of the Presidential Infrastructure Coordinating Commission which must perform the functions provided for in this Bill;
  - 3.2. The identification and implementation of strategic integrated projects which are of significant economic or social importance to the State or a region; and
  - 3.3. The establishment, appointment and functioning of management and steering committees.
4. The objectives of the Bill are to:
  - 4.1. Provide for the facilitation and co-ordination of infrastructure which is of significant economic or social importance to the Republic;

- 4.2. Ensure that infrastructure development in the Republic is given priority in planning, approval and implementation; and
- 4.3. Ensure that development goals of the State are promoted through infrastructure development.

DISCUSSION:

5. Transnet's large investments in railways, ports, harbours and pipelines will be impacted by this Bill as these may be declared Strategic Infrastructure Projects and will be subject to oversight by the Presidential Infrastructure Coordination Commission ("PICC").
6. The Bill potentially unduly impacts on governance requirements pertaining to State owned enterprises per the requirements of the Public Finance Management Act, 1999. Clause 4 of the Bill sets out the functions of the PICC which include the following:
  - 6.1. Coordinate the identification of strategic international partners with which to conclude agreements which seeks to promote the objects of the Act;
  - 6.2. Consider proposals for infrastructure development and maintenance, and
7. In terms of Section 8 if the PICC has designated a strategic integrated project which must be implemented, it must determine whether the state or the organ of state has the capacity to implement the project or whether the project must be put out to tender.
8. Clarity is being sought regarding the envisaged role of the PICC per Clause 4 of the Bill. Further, recommendation is provided that in the determination of the capacity of an organ of state to implement a project, such should be done in consultation with the relevant organ of state.
9. Further, in terms of Clause 7(3) of the Bill, the Commission must designate as Chairperson of a strategic integrated project, the Minister under whose portfolio such strategic integrated project falls. Consequently, clarity has been sought regarding the roles and responsibilities of the Chairperson of the strategic integrated project versus the roles and responsibilities of the Secretariat. The Chairperson of the Secretariat is the Minister of Economic Affairs. The recommendation is made that the functions of the Secretariat, as set out in Clauses 10 (c) to (h) of the Bill, would be better placed if such functions reside with the Chairperson of the strategic integrated project as designated in terms of Clause 7(3).

In this regard it must be borne in mind that Transnet remains a company (albeit owned by the State) that has to apply sound corporate governance principles as encapsulated in the Companies Act, 2008 (Act No. 71 of 2008) and the King Code of Governance for South Africa, 2009 ("King III"). Provisions such as clause 4(f) of the Bill, which may be interpreted as having the potential to undermine sound governance processes of State Owned Companies, should also be reviewed.

10. Whilst the overall scheme and purpose of the Bill to facilitate the roll-out of projects and development initiatives are to be commended, care should be taken not to compromise the governance arrangements of State Owned Companies and their ability to access affordable funding as a result of their sound governance and procurement practices.

The deadline for the submission of comments was 22 November 2013. However, an extension has been secured from the Secretary of the Portfolio Committee for Economic Development for Transnet to submit its comments by 29 November 2013.

FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS:

11. These have not yet been assessed.

BUDGET IMPLICATIONS:

12. These have not yet been assessed.

RECOMMENDATION:

13. Approval is requested for the submission of the attached comments on the Bill (cf. Annexure "A") to the Portfolio Committee for Economic Development Department of Economic Development.

MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT BILL, 2013

1. BACKGROUND

- 1.1 In South Africa, as in every country, infrastructure underpins economic and social development. Both the New Growth Path and the National Development Plan stress the importance of infrastructure as a jobs driver. They agree that a central task for the state is to ensure that infrastructure grows sufficiently to serve the expanding economy and population, and that it is built, operated and maintained efficiently and cost-effectively.
- 1.2 Investment in infrastructure is a particular imperative for South Africa because apartheid was characterised by underinvestment in infrastructure in black communities, especially in the rural areas. This situation hobbled economic and social development in these regions, making it more difficult for enterprises to take advantage of economic opportunities and undermining efforts to improve health, education and security.
- 1.3 Given scarce resources, addressing these backlogs while maintaining adequate infrastructure for the economy and fast-growing areas requires careful prioritisation and collaboration. The division of responsibilities for infrastructure across the state, from the national departments to state-owned companies to municipalities and regulatory bodies, leads to the risk of contradictory plans and priorities or uncoordinated implementation with cost-rising and development-dampening effects.
- 1.4 To ensure a more strategic and coordinated response to these challenges, in October 2011 the government established the Presidential Infrastructure Coordinating Commission (PICC). The Commission is led by the President with the main infrastructure and economics Ministers, Premiers of Provinces, mayors of the metros and the chair of the South African Local Government Association (SALGA) as members. Work is coordinated through a Management Committee made up of members drawn from the PICC. The PICC is backed by a Secretariat comprised of Ministers and Deputy Ministers, and a technical team.
- 1.5 Since its establishment, the PICC has succeeded in bringing about a more coherent, visionary and large-scale infrastructure programme. Key achievements include the following:
  - In February 2012, Cabinet adopted the first National Infrastructure Plan, which was developed by the PICC. The Plan identifies 18 Strategic Integrated Projects (SIPs), which constitute related projects required to achieve core outcomes, including regional development, improved social services and enhanced logistics, energy security, water supply and access to broadband as well as social infrastructure such as schools, universities, sanitation systems, hospitals and clinics.
  - The PICC designated public agencies to coordinate each SIP and convened launches that brought together key stakeholders across the state, ensuring clarity about their responsibilities.
  - The share of public investment has risen from a post-2008 low of 6,8% of the GDP at the end of 2010 to 7,6% in the second quarter of 2013. The New Growth Path sets a target of 10%.
  - The PICC has established a system to ensure quarterly monitoring and evaluation of progress on SIPs, and intervenes to support progress as required.

2. OBJECTIVES OF THE BILL

The Bill provides a legal mandate for the PICC and its structures, and for maintenance of the National Infrastructure Plan. Specifically:

- it maintains the national structures of the PICC as currently constituted;
- it mandates on-going updating and extension of the National Infrastructure Plan to ensure that it continues to provide clarity about infrastructure priorities and timeframes;
- it identifies key developmental elements of the infrastructure programme;
- it clarifies the role of departments and agencies in managing SIPs; and
- it establishes procedures and structures to minimise unnecessary delays in planning SIPs and in obtaining authorisations, permits and licences for the projects that they incorporate.

3. DETAILED ANALYSIS OF THE PROVISIONS OF THE BILL

3.1 Part 1 includes the definition section and the objects of the Act, which are essentially as stated above.

3.2 Part 2 provides for the structures and functioning of the PICC. To that end, it mandates that the Council have as members the President, Deputy President, Ministers nominated by the President, all Premiers and the executive mayors of the metropolitan councils and the chair of SALGA, with the President as chair.

In clause 4, it defines the functions of the PICC as developing, maintaining, and coordinating the implementation and monitoring of the National Infrastructure Plan; designating SIPs and ensuring co-operation across the state to implement them; evaluating the impact of infrastructure projects on economic and developmental goals; addressing obstacles to implementation of infrastructure plans; and maximising their developmental outcomes.

Clause 5 gives the PICC the right to expropriate land in line with the Constitution.

Clause 6 empowers the President to establish a Management Committee for the PICC and determine its members from amongst the members of the PICC, and defines its functions.

3.3 Part 3 establishes the criteria for designating a SIP, based essentially on its national importance and/or scale, and its inclusion in the National Infrastructure Plan. It empowers the PICC to designate a Minister to chair a SIP, with the responsibility in particular of ensuring coordinated support across the state. It also provides that the PICC must determine if a SIP should be put out to tender and, in that case, empowers the PICC to request a Minister to initiate the tender process through the relevant Accounting Officer.

3.4 Part 4 defines the roles of the implementing structures of the PICC — that is, the Secretariat and the SIP Steering Committees.

3.4.1 The Secretariat is chaired by the Minister of Economic Development and comprises relevant Ministers and Deputy Ministers as determined by the President. The Secretariat is responsible for driving implementation of the SIPs, appointing their coordinators and steering committees, monitoring and evaluating progress, and issuing guidelines and frameworks for the implementation of the SIPs.

3.4.2 The Secretariat will designate a SIP steering committee for each SIP. The steering committees develop the specific plans for the SIP and manage their implementation, including helping address specific regulatory delays and other blockages, and securing developmental outcomes. They are chaired by SIP coordinators, which are generally a relevant department or other state agency, and their members represent relevant state entities, the Construction Industry Development Board (CIDB), and where appropriate experts appointed by the PICC Secretariat. For individual projects, the relevant Director General or head of a public entity remains as the Accounting Officer under the applicable legislation.

3.4.3 Clause 13 includes provisions to prevent conflict of interest on the part of steering committee members.

Clause 14 lays out the specific responsibilities of the steering committees.

3.5 Part 5 requires that processes required to implement a SIP, including approvals, licences, authorisations and exemptions, should be managed as expeditiously as possible. Schedule 2 provides timeframes for specific processes.

Clause 18 specifically provides for Environmental Impact Assessments.

3.6 Part 6 includes general provisions, in particular:

- a requirement that the Minister of Economic Development, as chairperson of the Secretariat, provides a quarterly progress report to the PICC;
- authorisation for delegations by the various role-players in the PICC structures; and
- in clause 21, provisions empowering the Minister of Economic Development to issue regulations and implementation frameworks for the SIPs.

3.7 Schedule 1 defines the scope of the Act, essentially comprising major kinds of infrastructure. Schedule 2 provides timeframes for SIP planning and public consultation.

4. DEPARTMENTS OR BODIES CONSULTED

The Bill was drafted by the Economic Development Department in consultation with the Office of the Chief State Law Adviser and the PICC MANCO. The Bill was gazetted for comment on 6 February 2013, and the comments have been taken into consideration. Nedlac was consulted and agreed that the Bill falls outside of the National Economic, Development and Labour Council Act, 1994 (Act No. 35 of 1994), since it essentially relates to the internal organisation of the state.

5. FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS FOR STATE

Departmental budgets will, through the normal budgetary processes, cover the cost of infrastructure programmes and coordination

6. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

6.1 The State Law Advisers and the Economic Development Department are of the opinion that this Bill must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure prescribed by section 75 of the Constitution since it contains no provision to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.

- 6.2 The State Law Advisers are of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer this Bill to the National House of Traditional Leaders in terms of section 18(1)(a) of the Traditional Leadership and Governance Framework Act, 2003 (Act No. 41 of 2003), since it does not contain provisions pertaining to customary law or customs of traditional communities.
