SECTIONPURPOSE OF THISDOCUMENT

This strategic plan and budget presents the strategic and financial plan of the Auditor-General South Africa (AGSA) for the period 1 April 2023 to 31 March 2026, based on our #cultureshift2030 strategy. It sets targets for the first year and makes projections for the remaining two years of the three-year cycle.

OUR CONSTITUTIONAL 02 MANDATE AND FUNCTIONS

2.1 OUR MANDATE AND FUNCTIONS

Chapter 9 of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996 (Constitution) establishes the institution of the Auditor-General as one of the state institutions supporting constitutional democracy. The Constitution entrenches our independence by directing that we are subject only to the Constitution and the law. The Constitution requires us to be impartial and exercise our powers and perform our functions without fear, favour or prejudice. Our functions are described in section 188 of the Constitution. These functions are further regulated by chapters 2 and 3 of the Public Audit Act 25 of 2004 (PAA).

In our endeavour to fully implement the intention of the Constitution, we take guidance from section 41 that requires all spheres of government and 'all organs of state to secure the well-being of the people of the Republic and to provide effective, transparent, accountable and coherent government for South Africa as a whole'.

2.2 OUR PRODUCTS

Each year, we conduct mandatory regularity audits of all legislatures, all national and provincial government departments, certain public entities, all municipalities and all municipal entities (our clients or auditees).

Furthermore, we conduct discretionary regularity audits, as well as other forms of discretionary engagements, such as performance audits, real-time audits, special audits, international audits and investigations. Our audit reports are made public and are tabled in Parliament, provincial legislatures and municipal councils.

In addition to these audit-specific reports, we publish two general reports each year, in which we analyse the outcomes of the audits at national and provincial levels and at municipal level.

Our products form the basis for engagement with a variety of stakeholder groups, during which we share audit insight to equip them to fulfil their responsibilities effectively.

2.3 ACCOUNTABILITY AND REPORTING

We are accountable to the National Assembly in terms of section 181(5) of the Constitution and section 3(d) of the PAA. We report to the National Assembly annually on our activities and the performance of our functions by tabling two main accountability instruments, namely our business plan and budget and our annual report. The Standing Committee on the Auditor-General (Scoag), established in terms of the Constitution and the PAA, oversees our performance on behalf of the National Assembly.

2.4 OUR AUGMENTED MANDATE

Changes to our enabling legislation came into effect on 1 April 2019. A few fundamental amendments addressed long-standing concerns about the failure to act on our findings and recommendations or to implement consequences for the mismanagement of public resources. The amended PAA aims to encourage those charged with accountability for public resources to act decisively and in accordance with the law to prevent or recover the loss of public resources. Where our recommendations and messages have not been addressed, we now have the power to trigger consequences.

Material irregularity

The concept of a material irregularity (MI) relates directly to our extended mandate. An MI encompasses financial mismanagement, maladministration, fraud, theft and breaches of fiduciary duties that could result in a material loss or the misuse of financial or public resources, or substantial harm to the public or a public institution. An MI can trigger a number of decisions by the auditor-general that require specific attention by accounting officers and authorities, as well as those charged with oversight.

Referral for investigation

Section 5(1)(A) of the PAA now grants the auditor-general the discretion to refer MIs to relevant public bodies for further investigation. These public bodies have to keep the auditor-general informed of their progress and the final outcome of their investigation. Criteria for these referrals were published as part of the regulations to the amended PAA. The auditor-general must account to the National Assembly on all matters referred to public bodies for investigation.

Remedial action and certificate of debt

The auditor-general can choose to make recommendations in an audit report to resolve an MI, as opposed to referring such irregularity for investigation. In the event that such recommendations are not implemented, the auditor-general must now take appropriate remedial action to address the failure of accounting officers and authorities to implement MI recommendations.

Failure to implement such remedial action may lead to the auditor-general issuing a certificate of debt in the personal capacity of the relevant accounting officer or members of the accounting authority, where a material financial loss has been suffered.

Several mechanisms have been built into the process to ensure that it is fair and just, and to limit our risk of judicial review. The auditor-general must also account to the National Assembly on the remedial action, certificates of debt and amounts recovered. Detailed regulations specifying the process for remedial action and issuing the certificate of debt were published to ensure a transparent and fair process.

OUR ROLE IN THE SOUTH AFRICAN DEMOCRACY 3.1

At the most basic level, the independent auditor's role is to express an opinion on whether the financial statements of the auditee are prepared in accordance with applicable financial reporting frameworks. While the role of the public sector auditor is premised on that elemental definition, it also goes beyond this.

The United Nations recognises the important role of the supreme audit institution (SAI) in promoting the efficiency, accountability, effectiveness and transparency of public administration that is conducive to the achievement of national development objectives and priorities as well as internationally agreed development goals. The International Organization of Supreme Audit Institutions (Intosai) goes further in defining the role of the public sector auditor, as championed by the SAI, as an important factor in making a difference in the lives of citizens.

Through our audit activities, we play an important role in enabling accountability and thus promoting democratic governance in South Africa. We do this by providing independent assurance to the various legislatures on whether entities that use public funds have managed their financial affairs in line with sound financial principles, have complied with the relevant legal framework, and have provided credible information on the achievement of their financial and performance objectives in line with the PAA. In this way, the elected representatives of the South African people are able to hold the executive and accounting authorities, officials and public entities accountable. This provides the rationale for our work in empowering citizens 'to hold the custodians of public resources accountable' in terms of Intosai-P 12, The value and benefits of supreme audit institutions - making a difference to the lives of citizens.

3.2 OUR VISION, MISSION AND VALUES

The essence of our organisation as a SAI is expressed in our vision and mission statements, which are underpinned by our values:

VISION

To be recognised by all our stakeholders as a relevant supreme audit institution that enhances public sector accountability

MISSION

The Auditor-General of South Africa has a constitutional mandate and, as the supreme audit institution of South Africa, exists to strengthen our country's democracy by enabling oversight, accountability and governance in the public sector through auditing, thereby building public confidence

We build trust

We do the right thing

We excel in all we do

3.3 VALUE AND BENEFITS OF SUPREME AUDIT INSTITUTIONS

We subscribe to and apply the principles entrenched in Intosai-P 12, The value and benefits of supreme audit institutions – making a difference to the lives of citizens, which centres around the following notion:

Auditing of government and public sector entities by SAIs has a positive impact on trust in society because it focuses the minds of the custodians of public resources on how well they use those resources. Such awareness supports desirable values and underpins accountability mechanisms, which in turn leads to improved decisions. Once SAIs' audit results have been made public, citizens are able to hold the custodians of public resources accountable. In this way SAIs promote the efficiency, accountability, effectiveness and transparency of public administration. An independent, effective and credible SAI is therefore an essential component in a democratic system where accountability, transparency and integrity are indispensable parts of a stable democracy. Acting in the public interest places a further responsibility on SAIs to demonstrate their ongoing relevance to citizens, Parliament and other stakeholders.

The extent to which a SAI is able to make a difference to the lives of citizens is contingent on three main pillars:

PILLAR 1

Strengthening the accountability, transparency and integrity of government and public sector entities

- Safeguarding the independence of the SAI
- Carrying out audits
- Enabling those charged with governance
- Reporting on audit results

PILLAR 2

Demonstrating ongoing relevance to citizens, Parliament and other stakeholders

- Being responsive to changing environments and emerging risks
- Communicating effectively with stakeholders
- Being a credible source of independent and objective insight

PILLAR 3

Being a model organisation through leading by example

- Ensuring appropriate own transparency and accountability
- Ensuring own good governance
- Complying with a code of ethics
- Striving for service excellence and quality
- Capacity building through learning and knowledge sharing

3.4 THE VALUE ADDED THROUGH OUR WORK

We deliver value to our stakeholders in the following ways:

THE PEOPLE OF SOUTH AFRICA

- Listening to conversations in the public sector and civil society organisations on areas of importance, acting in the public interest, and selecting areas of audit that have a direct impact on the lived reality of our people
- Making public the results of our audit work and providing insight in a simple manner, which may enable citizens to hold their elected representatives and custodians of public resources accountable
- Being a model organisation that champions clean administration and transformation imperatives
- Executing our audits in the most cost-effective, efficient and economical manner

THE LEGISLATURES

- Being a trustworthy source of relevant, independent and objective insight based on professional judgement and sound analysis
- Proactively identifying themes, common findings, trends and root causes
- Providing audit recommendations and discussing these with key stakeholders to enable them to oversee and support beneficial changes in the public sector culture and service delivery so that we influence improvement in the lived reality of our people

THE EXECUTIVE AND THE AUDITEES

- Identifying instances of mismanagement and their root causes, and recommending improvements tailored to the business of the auditee
- Equipping them with a value-adding understanding of the status of their financial and performance management and compliance with relevant laws
- Delivering tailored audit and engagement programmes to assist them to improve their respective cultures so that they are characterised by performance, accountability, transparency and integrity

THE AUDITING AND ACCOUNTING PROFESSIONS

- Allocating contract audit work equitably and meaningfully
- Building skilled and qualified professionals
- Creating a pipeline of black chartered accountants to transform the profession and economically empower black-owned audit firms

OUR EMPLOYEES

- Providing an invaluable opportunity to play a role in shaping the work of the public sector
- Creating meaningful employment and career development opportunities
- Providing fair, transparent, market-related and equitable remuneration and benefits

4.1 STRATEGIC ASPIRATION

Our strategic aspiration is to have a more direct, stronger and consistent impact on improving the lives of ordinary South Africans by improving the public sector culture through insight, influence and enforcement.

Success in this regard does not only rest on our ability to fulfil our mandate, but also on the extent to which we are able to mobilise and bring the collective influence of the accountability ecosystem to drive positive change.

The nature of the public sector that we aspire to see and work towards is one that is reflective of the following basic values and principles described in section 195 of the Constitution:

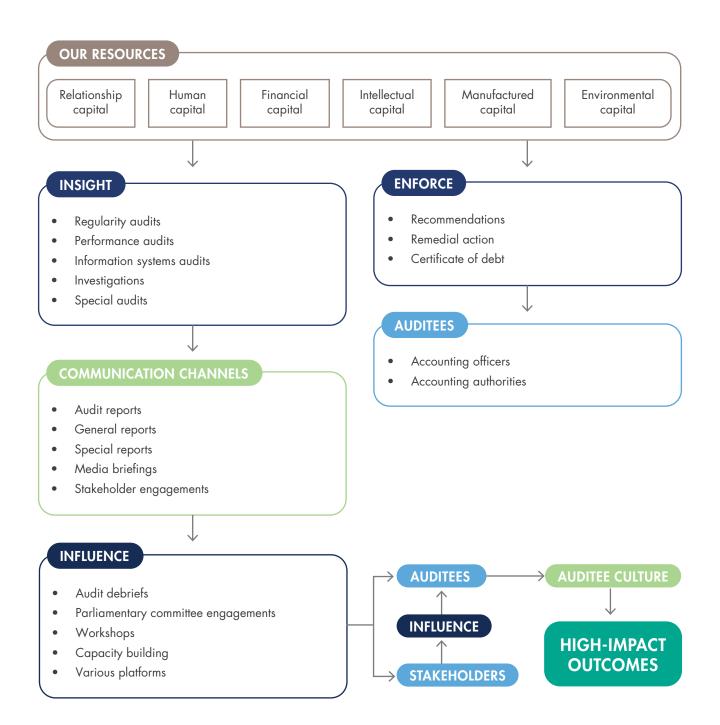

- A high standard of professional ethics must be promoted and maintained.
- Efficient, economical and effective use of resources must be promoted.
- Public administration must be development oriented.
- Services must be provided impartially, fairly, equitably and without bias.
- People's needs must be responded to, and the public must be encouraged to participate in policy making.
- Public administration must be accountable.
- Transparency must be fostered by providing the public with timely, accessible and accurate information.
- Good human resource management and career development practices, to maximise human potential, must be cultivated.

Service delivery failures in South Africa are largely the result of failures in the conduct of public servants. The behaviour of organs of state flows from the public sector culture that prevails, which in turn forms part of a wider societal culture.

4.2 THEORY OF CHANGE

In meaningfully contributing towards reversing the trend of persistent accountability and performance failures and realising the aspiration of making a stronger and more direct impact on the lived reality of ordinary South Africans, we rely on leveraging our capabilities towards generating insights and applying influence on stakeholders in a manner that shifts the culture of the public sector towards one of performance, accountability, transparency and integrity. Where our messages have been disregarded, we will use the provisions of our expanded mandate to enforce adherence to relevant laws and regulations.

In summary, our theory of change is the assumption that by sustainably and efficiently shifting public sector culture through insight, influence and enforcement, we will realise our strategic aspiration of making an impact on the lived reality of South Africans, as visualised on the next page.

Our success in realising the theory of change is contingent on us excelling in the following dimensions in a coordinated manner:

Sustainably

Acquire, develop and maintain quantity, quality and configuration of resources and capabilities to achieve and sustain desired levels of impact

Efficiently

Unlock latent capacity in the existing resource base and lower the cost and effort with which we derive each marginal unit of quality, insight, influence and enforcement

Shift public sector culture

Move critical mass of auditees to organisational cultures characterised by performance, transparency, integrity and accountability

Insight

Generate insight that illuminates understanding, drive action and yield results

Influence

Move stakeholders from mere awareness of our messages, to action on and advocacy thereof

Enforcement

Directly or indirectly recover resources lost to the state and taxpayers, and ensure application of consequences for wrongdoing

4.3 IMPLEMENTATION APPROACH AND PLAN

We are implementing our strategy in a focused and staggered way. We are allowing sufficient time for transition, during which we work with every staff member to build an overarching mindset and orientation towards high-impact outcomes and place the organisation in a position and capability readiness to successfully deliver on its strategy. Our implementation plan can be summarised as follows:

STRATEGIC COMMITMENTS OF THE AUDITOR-GENERAL FOR 2023-26

SECTION

Over the past two years, I invested ample time on sharing the #cultureshift2030 strategy with leadership teams and business units across the organisation. During these discussions, we thoroughly unpacked the rationale for our strategy and the main strategic imperatives to ensure organisational alignment. These sessions were followed by further engagements between the deputy auditor-general and staff. Each business unit deliberated on the changes they need to implement to contribute to the culture shift. I am very pleased that the leadership and their teams are now fully on board and committed to the execution of our ambitious strategy.

Implementation of our extended powers

While we were preparing to apply the culture change programmes required by the strategy, we continued to implement our extended powers. Since the PAA was amended in 2019, we have been able to scale up the implementation of the MI process significantly across all categories of auditees. We fast-tracked our plans and ensured application of the full MI definition, which opened up the net for covering a wide range of matters that can result in MIs. It further improved our prospects for issuing MIs, the resolution of which can result in substantially improved internal controls and performance at auditee level.

The full implementation of the MI process remains nonnegotiable. By the end of the 2024-25 financial year, we will implement it in every single audit we conduct. We will continue to ensure full transparency on the resolution of the identified MIs by displaying their status on our website. We will use existing opportunities such as engaging the portfolio committee chairs on the MI process as part of the budgetary review and recommendations report discussions; or create new ones to encourage, influence or enforce action on our MI recommendations. Internally, after each audit cycle, we will reflect on and evaluate this instrument and identify opportunities for strengthening the MI process to focus on MIs with a high impact and resultant consequences.

Collaboration with public bodies

A substantial part of implementing the MI process is dependent on the work of various public bodies and law-enforcement agencies. We will continue to build relationships with them and improve the processes of collaboration. The work with the Fusion Centre during our first real-time audits enriched cooperation with the Special Investigating Unit and the Office of the Public Protector and opened opportunities to leverage these relationships to support our audits.

As part of our mandate, we receive requests for investigations. Where such requests fall outside of our mandate, we will continue to refer the complainants to the relevant agencies that are better equipped and better placed to deal with these matters through their mandates.

Strengthening the accountability ecosystem

The understanding that my office, as the SAI of the country, cannot drive good performance and management of public resources on its own, has been tacit and generally accepted. Our efforts have shifted to making the contribution of all relevant roleplayers explicit and transparent. We have gone to great lengths to understand their mandates and responsibilities and have made recommendations on how they can strengthen their hand in better executing these mandates.

Our outputs receive a lot of attention from various portfolio committees and Cabinet, which gives us confidence that we are providing value to them. The work with Parliament and the portfolio committees will be especially important in securing the executive's accountability to Parliament.

We are calling on all roleplayers to be active in improving the management of public resources and service delivery. We will continue to provide insight on the performance of identified sections of the accountability ecosystem to serve as catalyst for improved performance, and ultimately, for an improvement in the lives of ordinary South Africans.

Addressing observations and recommendations of the Judicial Commission of Inquiry into Allegations of State Capture, Corruption and Fraud in the Public Sector including Organs of State

When Raymond Zondo CJ delivered the commission's report, it marked the end of a unique journey for our country, which illuminated stark failures in governance, integrity and accountability leading to the state capture. We see this point also as the beginning of a new era for government and other organs of state, focused on rebuilding our public institutions so that they can again deliver the services that ordinary South Africans so desperately need. The parallels with the elements of public sector culture that we aim to influence through our work are staggering.

Having studied in detail the report of the commission, we commit to develop and execute a programme that considers the commission's findings, observations and recommendations on our audits; audit risk assessments on the effectiveness of our audit methodology, scoping and processes; as well as the appropriateness of our skills, systems and tools to perform fraud data analytics and identify indicators of fraud, corruption and capture as early as possible. No less important, we will reflect on what the commission's journey and outcomes mean for our own culture and business operations.

In conclusion

Overall, the implementation of our strategy – aimed at achieving the noble goal of having a direct and positive impact on the lives of ordinary South Africans, providing transparency on the use of public resources, and continuing to be a model organisation – will inform our tactical choices and personal behaviours.

Anduleke 9.3.2023

Tsakani Maluleke Auditor-General

OVERVIEW BY THE DEPUTY AUDITOR-GENERAL

As the accounting officer of the AGSA, one of my most critical tasks is to create an enabling and safe environment for Team AGSA to deliver on our #cultureshift2030 strategic aspiration, as outlined by the auditor-general.

I was greatly encouraged by the excitement that our staff displayed during my #cultureshift2030 strategy roadshows. Everyone had an opportunity to openly share their innovative ideas and discuss how impediments to the achievement of the strategy can be addressed so that we together realise our aspirations for the public sector.

This strategic plan is informed equally by the strategic thinking and commitment of our leadership and the enthusiasm and solution-driven attitude of our staff.

Leadership alignment and internal culture shift

The success or our strategy is undoubtedly dependent on our own internal culture, made up of our behaviours, values and the tacit way in which we execute our daily duties and treat our stakeholders. An internal culture that is consistent, practised daily and conducive to the implementation of the strategy, can only be reached through close leadership alignment and unwavering commitment. My executive team has identified processes and initiatives to assist staff to understand and buy into the theory of change, along with its underpinning models and frameworks – and consequently, to practise those consistently across the organisation. Ultimately, our goal is to reach a point where we all show up to work because we are inspired by the aspiration of making a difference in the lived reality of ordinary South Africans.

Resourcing for success

Although leadership in general, and leadership alignment specifically, are critical aspects and non-negotiable internal capabilities, the success of our strategy will be further dependent on the availability of staff with the required work ethic, knowledge, capabilities, competencies, skills and professionalism. In that respect, our plan includes various initiatives to evaluate the effectiveness and appropriateness of our available resources and direct them towards activities that will have the biggest impact on shifting the culture in the public sector. We will have to develop the unique mix of skills, processes, competencies and capabilities required by the #cultureshift2030 strategy so that our clients and stakeholders benefit from deep, relevant and timely insight produced by our team. This insight will in turn stimulate and enable the entire accountability ecosystem to perform better. This will not be an easy journey but we are looking forward to it as it will allow every staff member to grow professionally, and the organisation to transform into a fit-for-higher-purpose collective.

Improving technological capabilities

Our information and communication technology function has faced several challenges over the past few years. As leadership, we invested time in understanding these challenges and charted a strategic way forward. The first step we took was to ensure that we stabilise the information and communication technology leadership through the appointment of a chief technology officer.

Secondly, we reorganised our technology space to better manage our business improvement through a digital transformation unit and optimising our operations unit. We appointed heads for these business units, whose focus will be on creating the necessary agile technological skills.

The third step that we will be taking is to invest in technologies that will bring internal operational efficiencies, improve audit quality, and free time for our auditors to focus on extracting deep audit insights. This step might require additional financial resources in the short and medium term. However, when implemented, we expect to see immense benefits for our operations and audit processes.

Our financial sustainability

One of the three pillars of the independence of SAIs is their financial independence and sustainability. We have been diligent in managing our financial resources so that we always have a choice about the nature, scope and frequency of the audits we undertake. The goals of the #cultureshift2030 strategy, rapid changes in the technological and communications spheres, as well as developments in human capital acquisition and management practices, require careful and, perhaps, unconventional financial decisions.

To put ourselves in the best position to achieve our aspirations, we will complete the review of our funding model as discussed with our oversight committee and consider possible improvements. In our quest for sustainability, we will employ financial prudence, enhance revenue and debt collection, optimise allocations to contract work creditors, and pool internal resources. The influx of automated audit solutions and corporate management tools prompts us to undertake an even bigger task, that of redefining our operating model. Investment in efficient technologies, ongoing improvement of our methodology and increased use of specialised skills in response to identified opportunities in the audit environment, will be the main change aspects of the operating model.

Strengthening our ethical posture

The elevation of our ethics programme seeks to improve our ethical maturity rating from AA to AAA by 2025. Our commitment is to enhance leadership capabilities by strengthening their ethical resolve through providing timeous intelligence on ethical misconduct and breaches. Furthermore, we will fortify staff to withstand ethical threats and respond appropriately to the complexities of the environment within which the organisation operates.

In conclusion, I have full confidence in the leadership of the organisation and our teams to drive the successful execution of our strategy, thereby contributing to improving the lived reality of our citizens.

Vonani Chauke Deputy Auditor-General

STRATEGIC GOAL 1: SUSTAINABLY

Acquire, develop and maintain the quantity, quality and configuration of resources and capabilities to achieve and sustain our desired levels of impact

The success of our strategy rests on the internal capacity, competencies and wellbeing of our staff. We will endeavour to prioritise the retention and optimisation of our staff composition and their capabilities to create an environment that enables them to meaningfully contribute towards the achievement of our strategic aspirations.

The financial viability and sustainability of the organisation is critical in ensuring our independence. The approaches that we will implement to ensure that we remain financially viable will be revenue enhancement, debt recovery, cost optimisation and savings. An important aspect of our financial sustainability is the ability to maximise the use of our resources and minimise the use of audit contractors. We will only utilise such external resources where absolutely necessary and for special assignments.

The AGSA's system of quality management (SoQM) creates an environment that enables and supports our audit teams to perform high-quality audit engagements. Our commitment to audit quality remains at the heart of the organisation's culture and we believe that the implementation of the International Standards on Quality Management (ISQM) will allow us to achieve the continuous improvement of audit quality.

We will continue to recognise and reinforce our commitment to quality throughout the organisation by proactively maintaining our SoQM. This proactive management is embedded through the continuous risk assessment process, the monitoring and remediation process as well as the annual evaluation that will be undertaken. The annual evaluation is to ensure that the SoQM achieves its objective, namely to obtain reasonable assurance that the organisation and its staff fulfil their responsibilities and that the reports issued by the organisation are credible and appropriate in the circumstances.

Our strategic enablers

- Refine and revise the trainee auditor scheme.
- Revise and refine our funding and operating model.
- Ensure sustainable financial independence.
- Perform an integrated fraud risk assessment.

STRATEGIC GOAL 2: EFFICIENTLY

Unlock latent capacity in the existing resource base and our people and lower the cost and effort with which we derive each marginal unit of quality, insight, influence and enforcement

The tight fiscal conditions, changes in the business environment and the need to adapt to new ways of working have brought the importance of operational efficiencies to the centre of strategy execution. To respond to these changes, we will continue to pay attention to the review of our organisational structure and operating model and to strengthen the integration of our business process.

Our revised digital technology office strategy will play a critical role in driving digital transformation, audit efficiencies and innovation in the organisation. The desired outcome from implementing the strategy is improved levels of productivity, reduced manual processes and enabling the organisation to produce timely insights. The main tools for achieving these improvements will be new audit software and enterprise resource planning systems. Both are envisaged to be fully implemented in 2025-26.

| Terreted outcome | Key performance | Targets | | | | |
|--|---|---|--|--|--|--|
| Targeted outcome | indicator | 2023-24 | 2024-25 | 2025-26 | | |

Our strategic enablers

- Review the operating model (how resources are organised and managed) and implement the alignment thereof to the new strategy.
- Fast-track smart real estate programme.
- Optimise the ways of working.
- Advance the digitisation of our business.

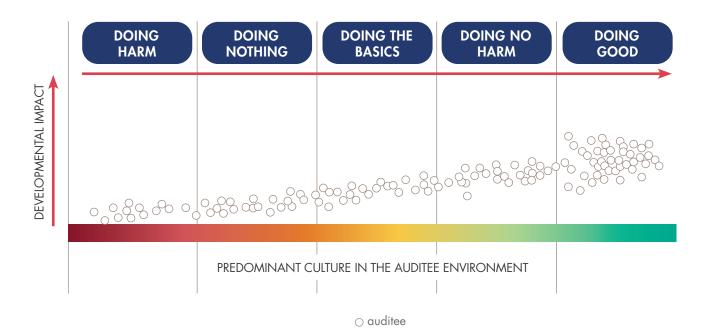

STRATEGIC GOAL 3: SHIFT PUBLIC SECTOR CULTURE

Move a critical mass of auditees towards organisational cultures characterised by performance, accountability, transparency and integrity

Transforming the culture in the public sector is the cornerstone of our long-term strategy. As such, achieving a positive culture shift is both a desired end-state as well as a set of specific activities aimed to drive such shift.

In the transition phase of the strategy, we focused on defining the systemic indicators of a good accountability culture and establishing a baseline for improvement programmes. The focus for this reporting period will be on implementing the identified actions that we trust will encourage the culture shift. We believe that we might be able to start tracking the movement on the culture shift continuum (as depicted below) towards the end of the period.

The position of auditees on the culture shift continuum will be assessed annually and it will be used to determine the effectiveness and impact of our programmes as well as that of the various roleplayers in the accountability ecosystem. The analysis will further result in the identification of root causes of the lack of progress, which will be used to inform corrective action. Active engagement with counterparts in the ecosystem will be pursued to get ever closer to the desired culture of performance, accountability, transparency and integrity. We will regularly publish the status of auditees' movement along the continuum and devise ways to inspire executive authorities, accounting officers and authorities, oversight mechanisms and others to pursue improvement along the continuum for the entities for which they are responsible.

| Targeted outcome | Key performance | Targets | | | |
| largelea oulcome | indicator | 2023-24 | 2024-25 | 2025-26 | |

| Improvement in the lived reality of ordinary South Africans | Demonstrated social impact achieved using the AGSA outputs | Identified initiatives leading to improved service delivery | Implemented initiatives leading to improved service delivery | Observed improved service delivery | |

Our strategic enablers

- Develop and enhance our audit processes, methodologies and frameworks to cause the culture shift.
- Form relevant culture shift coalitions.
- Develop an integrated culture shift charter.

STRATEGIC GOAL 4: INSIGHT

Generate audit insights that illuminate understanding, drive action and yield results

Audit insight is important to provide stakeholders with information, facts and detailed analysis to enable corrective action and consequence management where necessary. We aim to provide clear and meaningful insight that enables the necessary corrective action and consequence management to improve public sector administration.

We have made significant strides in conducting real-time audits over the past few years, with another special report, that on the real-time audit of flood relief funds, being tabled by the auditor-general on 31 August 2022. These audits have become a product added to our audit offerings. We will continue to sharpen our ability to deliver on real-time audits as we expect the demand to increase. Our next step is to develop, implement and institutionalise a sustainable model for rendering a real-time auditing service. In responding to our new strategy, we will pay attention to creating advanced audit insight hubs. This will be achieved through repositioning, refining and reimagining the functions of our specialised audit services business units to be able to provide timely, relevant and integrated insights to our stakeholders.

While preserving our independence we will continue to implement our refined civil society organisation position paper and the lessons learnt from the pilots we have undertaken. Civil society organisations have an important contribution to make as part of the broader accountability ecosystem. Therefore, we will collaborate with such organisations to deepen our risk assessment and strengthen audit messages. Service delivery is a critical component of our strategy in improving the lived reality of South African citizens.

Our strategic enablers

- Establish centralised data analytics and business intelligence capabilities.
- Accelerate the civil society organisation partnership programme.
- Obtain National Treasury permission for certain categories of auditees to deviate from legislated disclosure requirements.

STRATEGIC GOAL 5: INFLUENCE

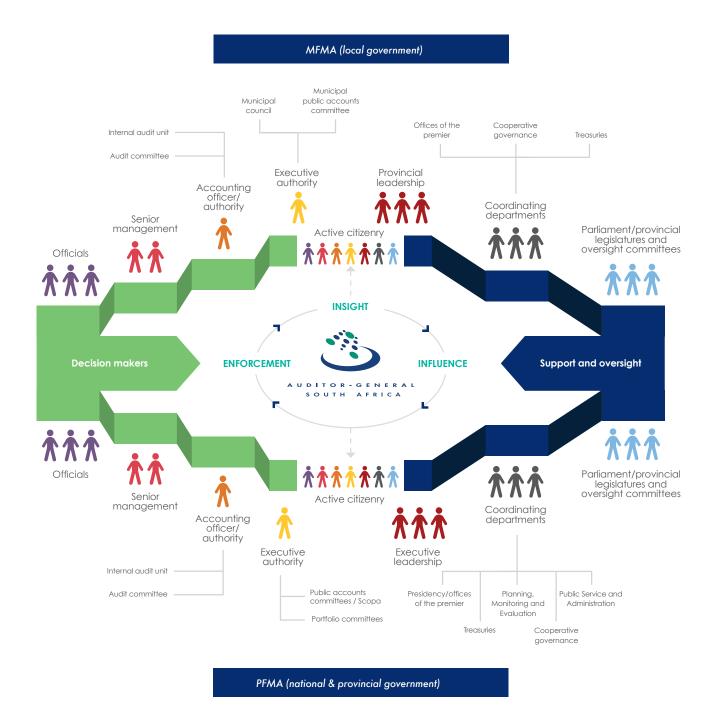

Move stakeholders from mere awareness of our messages to action on and advocacy thereof

The mission of sustainably and efficiently shifting public sector culture through insight, influence and enforcement is broad and cannot be achieved by the AGSA alone. To successfully deliver on this mission within the scope of our mandate and resources, we will need to influence the rest of the members of the broader accountability ecosystem to consistently and effectively fulfil their respective responsibilities and mandates.

The accountability ecosystem (as depicted on the next page) refers to the network of stakeholders that have a mandate and/or responsibility, whether legislative or moral, to drive, deepen and/or insist on public sector accountability.

The different stakeholders in the accountability ecosystem have an important and unique role to play in deepening the culture of performance, accountability, transparency and integrity in the public sector. Therefore, it is crucial for us to influence these stakeholders to make them understand their unique and important role in making the culture shift a reality and improving the lived reality of ordinary South African citizens.

We will continue to actively engage the oversight mechanisms to play a proactive role in holding the executive accountable and the coordinating ministries to capacitate the public sector. The next layer of stakeholders that we intend to activate in the accountability ecosystem is active citizenry to demand accountability from public officials.

Implement the concept and framework of an accountability ecosystem.

STRATEGIC GOAL 6: ENFORCEMENT

Apply powers to directly and indirectly recover resources lost to the state and taxpayers and ensure application of consequences for wrongdoing

Over the past three years, we have gained audit insight and realised a positive impact through the implementation of our expanded mandate to improve accountability in the public sector.

We have had a full spectrum of experiences when pursuing the resolution of the identified MIs by the accounting officers and authorities. With certainty we can demonstrate that we have been able to create momentum and a shift by many of the accounting officers and authorities from inaction to action. At this stage, 48% of the accounting officers and authorities (156 out of 237) across all spheres of government are seen to be taking appropriate actions to address the identified MIs. In most cases, action was taken only after we had issued notifications to accounting officers and authorities, which is a strong indication of the effectiveness of our expanded mandate.

Throughout implementation, we have identified a number of external and internal impediments and challenges and have devised mitigations. We will continue to be deliberate in reducing the time it takes to resolve the MIs and to expedite the implementation of the process at all auditees. Ultimately, we will hone our skills in identifying and processing MIs with a significant impact on citizens – as the end-users of public sector services.

Effect of estimates of the AGSA for 2023-24 on state expenditure

The total estimated audit costs of R4,57 billion for 2023-24 (2022-23: R4,36 billion) amount to 0,23% (2022-23: 0,22%) of estimated state expenditure of approximately R2 trillion. The estimate for 2023-24 represents a 5% increase over the 2022-23 budget and has no material effect on the estimated total state expenditure for 2023-24.

1.1 CALCULATION OF OWN HOURS INCOME

Three elements are used to calculate own hours income, namely:

- projected number of recoverable staff members (refer to note 1.1.1) •
- number of recoverable hours (refer to note 1.1.1.A)
- tariffs (refer to note 1.1.2)

The 2023-24 own hours income has been compiled using the same tariff formula applied in previous years, which is aligned to the AGSA funding model.

This has surpassed the 60%/40% target mix of CTA and degree, respectively. The objective of the 60%/40% target is to increase the productivity of this band. Increasing the TAs with CTA qualification ratio of 60% is under discussion. |

1.1.1.A Own hours - recoverable hours and ratios

Recoverable hours are influenced by the recovery rate determined for each staff band within the ABUs. The level of these recovery rates takes into account sufficient time for essential non-recoverable activities; for example, annual leave, study leave, sick leave, training, management and supervision. The average recovery rate for the 2023-24 budget is 65,3% (2022-23 budget: 64,5%). The increase in the recovery rate year-on-year is mainly driven by the alignment to budget guidelines and the increase in pooling of resources within ABUs. Pooling hours in the 2023-24 budget increased to 200 460 hours from the 151 724 hours in the 2022-23 budget.

1.1.2 Recommended tariffs

Tariffs are based on average staff costs per band and interval, a mark-up factor and recoverable hours per band (staff cost x mark-up factor ÷ recoverable hours). The average 2023-24 budget tariff is R930 per hour (2022-23: R889 per hour) translating into an increase of R41 per hour (4,6%), which is in line with the average projected inflation rate (CPI) of between 4% and 5% as per budget assumptions and guidelines.

1.2 CONTRACT WORK MOVEMENT

Private audit firms play a pivotal role in contributing strategic resources towards the execution of the AGSA's mandate. Over the years, it has been the AGSA's practice to outsource a certain amount of audit work to private audit firms. This contributes to the auditing profession's transformation by partially allocating work based on private audit firms' BBBEE score. In keeping with the previous year's practice, specific provision has been made for allocation of audit work to private audit firms to accommodate employee vacancies, especially during peak audit periods (i.e. the Public Finance Management Act and the Municipal Finance Management Act audit cycles). Contract work income as a percentage of total audit income has decreased from 16% in the 2022-23 budget to 15% in the 2023-24 budget. The decrease is in line with the strategy to bring down the ratio to 15% or less.

| % of total income | | 4% | 4% | | | |

1.3.1 Change from 2022-23 budget to 2023-24 budget

The S&T calculation is based on the S&T policy rates and the planned trips to conduct audits. The slight growth year-on-year is due to the anticipated increase in travelling as most of the audit work is expected to be performed at auditee premises, which was not the case in 2022-23.

| Total | 73 652 | 83 455 | 9 803 | 13,3% | |

The increase in other income is mainly driven by the expected growth in interest received from debtors due to an increase in the debt book. Interest from investment is expected to remain the same as no significant investment is expected in 2023-24.

1.5 APPROPRIATION INCOME

In the 2022-23 budget, a R50 million appropriation income was included to partly fund the cost of implementing the functions and powers brought by the amendments to the PAA. These costs include the cost of conducting further work on MIs, the cost of training to capacitate staff, as well as increased legal and other fees for the work done by specialists to provide more insights. Though the National Treasury has not committed to support the AGSA in 2023-24, engagements with the National Treasury have commenced to request payment to be continued as the cost of the MI process continues to increase.

A more detailed analysis is shown in the tables in notes 2.3 to 2.5 below.

2.1 LEAVE PAY PROVISION

The leave pay provision is a function of leave days and salary rate. The level of the provision is influenced by the accumulation of leave days allowed in terms of the applicable human resource policy. The number of accumulated leave days paid to an employee is limited to a maximum of 30 days on resignation and 120 days on retirement. The accumulated leave days provision in 2023-24 is estimated to be the same as in the 2022-23 budget, hence the 2023-24 budget remains the same as the 2022-23 budget.

2.2 POST-RETIREMENT MEDICAL AID PROVISION

The valuation experts (actuaries) base these estimates on actuarial projections for the 2023-24 forecast.

The budgeted amount is influenced by the study support policy, which prescribes that the AGSA should only offer financial assistance to employees who meet their academic progress requirements and to those who qualify for study assistance. The increase is due to an anticipated change in the number of qualifying staff and inflation (CPI).

10.4 EXTERNAL STUDENT BURSARIES AND TERTIARY ASSISTANCE

The programme of awarding bursaries is intended to create a future employee pool.

Saica Thuthuka programme

The investment in Thuthuka support is in line with the strategy to improve the trainee auditor mix to 60% with CTA and 40% with a degree. The 60%/40% trainee auditor mix strategy will result in improved recovery rates due to less time being spent on study activities. This ratio is currently being reviewed with the aim to increase the number of trainees with a CTA qualification to more than 60%. The 2023-24 budget is the same as the 2022-23 budget and the investment is in line with the expected return from the programme.

External bursaries and centenary scholarship

These costs relate to the AGSA's commitment to 39 external bursary holders (2022-23 budget: 42). The decrease in the number of students is driven by the completion of studies and the suspension of some bursary holders.

Included in office maintenance are costs of cleaning (R8 million); office improvements, refreshments and publications (R3,7 million); repairs and maintenance (R2,1 million); stationery and printing (R4,2 million), as well as medical examinations and warranty costs (R2 million). The slight increase is mainly driven by employees who are expected to work more days in the office compared to the 2022-23 financial year, when most staff members worked at alternative locations.

15.1 TELEPHONE CHARGES

The budgeted number of staff as well as the allowed average cost per staff member mainly influences the telephone costs. The allowance of R75 per month per person is the same as in the 2022-23 budget. The increase is because of the growth in headcount.

15.2 CELLPHONE CHARGES

The budgeted number of qualifying staff mainly drives the cellphone costs. Allowances in the 2023-24 budget remain the same as in 2022-23; however, the increase in costs is mainly driven by the growth in overheads, particularly in new BUs.

The depreciation expense budget is based on the depreciation of existing assets plus the depreciation of assets to be purchased as per the 2022-23 and 2023-24 capex budgets, based on the AGSA's asset management policy. The decrease in depreciation is mainly due to the extended useful lives of different asset categories, while the decrease in the right-of-use assets is due to the calculation being based on the remaining lease periods.
