ACCOUNTING AUTHORITY STATEMENT

It is with great pleasure that I present the 2023/24 Annual Performance Plan. The WHAG is still very committed to implementing 3 (three) out of the 7 (seven) government priorities which speak to WHAG's core mandate, i.e., economic transformation, social cohesion and nation building as well as a better Africa and World.

WHAG utilizes its resources to strengthen brand awareness of its programmes and services, ensuring that it is visible to the local communities it serves. In 2023 WHAG will continue dedicating to more inclusive acquisitions, ethical conservation and innovative interpretations of showcasing the nation's tangible and intangible African art heritage. The Gallery will make greater efforts through its outreach programmes and partnerships with tertiary institutions to impart the importance and impact of art education on learner and student career development.

In the upcoming year, the use and incorporation of technology will be key to transforming the visitor experience through public, meet the challenges posed by a socially distanced world and private partnerships that will attract the interest and participation, specifically of the youth. WHAG will also re-introduce the Artist Residency programme where South African, and African artists will be invited to the WHAG to produce artworks over a period of time. The resident artist-run may run workshops and hold discussions as well as exhibitions. The programme aims to impart much-needed knowledge and skills to the Kimberley and Northern Cape artists' community.

WHAG, with the resources and support of the National Department of Sport, Arts and Culture (DSAC) will make strides in improving the overall conditions of the Gallery by replacing the HVAC system, the electrical wiring, and the water pipe systems. In addition, the WHAG will focus on securing multi-year contracts with highly skilled conservators to ensure that the collection is maintained at high standards.

WHAG is well on its way to being an African museum of international standing that is dedicated to excellence in all areas of the arts, culture, and heritage.

Mr P A Masilo:
Chairperson of WHAG Council

ACCOUNTING OFFICER STATEMENT

The WHAG will still be in the necessary process of reintroducing the Gallery to the Northern Cape community and the nation at large through its public programmes and proactive engagement with various stakeholders. A tangible result so far has been a greater interest of what WHAG can offer to the upliftment, education and social cohesion of the community. A greater attendance of individuals from previously disadvantaged communities has found their way to the Gallery as a result. Audience development remains a priority for WHAG as such, partnerships have proven to be instrumental in bringing together audiences of diverse ages and socio- economic backgrounds. The WHAG has identified that issues of access must be considered when it comes to audience development.

WHAG has been able to showcase the creative production of the country's artists in an international platform and as a result, extend the entity's reach and reputation beyond its South African and African borders. This will WHAG's passionate team of professionals will in the upcoming year see a continued commitment to the inclusive acquisition, ethical conservation and showcasing of the nation's tangible and intangible African heritage. The Gallery will make greater efforts through its outreach programme to impart the much-needed knowledge of the importance of art education to the communities it serves. Underlining WHAG's public programmes for this year will be the implementation of 3 (three) of governments 7 (seven) key priorities i.e., economic transformation, social-cohesion and nation-building and a better Africa and World.

WHAG is firmly rooted in upholding the international standards of professional practice and museum performance and will continue to provide educational support to a younger generation of future museum practitioners through structured internships, ushering in an era of youthful energy and transformation into the sector. It has made strides in putting in place HRM policies and will continue to develop and implement these policies in the 2023/24 financial, further aiding in the desire to be a museum of excellence on the African continent.

PART A: OUR MANDATE

1. UPDATES TO THE RELEVANT LEGISLATIVE AND POLICY MANDATES

WHAG derives its legislative and policy mandates primarily from the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa; the Public Finance Management Act 1 of 1999 and the relevant Treasury Regulations including the Public Service Act as well as the Cultural Institutions Act, 119 of 1998, with the prescribed mandate of: -

“To collect, preserve, conserve and document, research as well as exhibit works of art which represent the artistic heritage of all South Africans and utilizes its assets for the edification, enrichment and enjoyment of the people”

The following governance legislations guide the WHAG in its daily operations: -

Cultural Institutions Act, No. 119 of 1998

Public Finance Management Act, No. 1 of 1999

Basic Conditions of Employment Act, No. 75 of 1997

Employment Equity Act, No. 55 of 1998

Labour Relations Act, No. 66 of 1995

Occupational Health and Safety Act, No. 85 of 1993

Preferential Procurement Policy Framework Act, No. 5 of 2000

Vision

A world class art gallery of excellence that is accessible and relevant to all.

Mission

To collect, preserve and conserve artworks that are representative of the cultural diversity and heritage of South Africa, Africa and beyond.

2. UPDATES TO INSTITUTIONAL POLICIES AND STRATEGIES

WHAG will continue to examine existing external and internal constraints to service delivery. The following strategies have been identified to transform WHAG's organizational environment over the next year.

2.1 Policies

WHAG is in the process of developing Human Resource Management (HRM) and financial management policies. Finalization of these policies during the 2023/24 financial year will positively impact on the day-to-day operations of the Gallery and contribute greatly to ensuring that it fulfils its mandate.

2.2 Staff Capacity

WHAG continues to face constraints related to its small staff complement. The institution continues to deliver on its targets, although constraints has enduring negative impacts on the current encumberment. These capacity constraints have made it challenging to priorities staff development because the current encumberment is under persistent strain to achieve in the key performance areas. As one of only three museums implementing DSAC's mandates in the discipline of visual art and being bound to adhere to practice models and policies under the UNESCO acts; the strain of adhering to the basic guidelines without a full staff compliment poses risks to the institution's ability to adequately fulfil the museums mission and vision. Mitigating this is of utmost importance in order to adhere to the heritage and cultural acts governing the sector.

WHAG will require financial assistance from the Department of Sport Arts and Culture to address these challenges if staff skills development and capacity is to be prioritized. Strategic partnerships will also be sourced to assist existing staff acquire more skills that would empower them to perform even more in their areas of expertise. Key positions in an art museum environment that are catered for in the current organizational structure needs to be created, however, this is not a feasible option without increasing the institutions allocated budget.

2.3 Infrastructure

The current WHAG offices are on lease from the Department of Public Works and Infrastructure. The building is slowly a deteriorating, putting the health and safety of staff at risk. The Department of Sport, Arts and Culture's Infrastructure section's approved funds have seen the gallery appoint a project management team that to manage the renovation process. The museum building is assigned to the Department of Public Works (DPW) but greater collaboration between the WHAG and DPW is needed to continue addressing the following in the 2023/24 financial year: -

- A fully functional central air-conditioning system (HVAC);
- The rewiring of electricity for the entire building;
- The replacement of old water pipes;
- Renovation of the roofs, interior floors and walls;
- The installation of state-of -the -art museum quality lighting;
- Installation of an ICT and security system, with wireless access to Wi-Fi;
- Extension of the storage unit

2.4 Decolonized Collection

An in-house audit of the WHAG's collection indicated that transformation and equity of artists and artworks needs to be addressed as a matter of urgency. Since 2019 Council and Management made a concerted effort to correct this disparity by adopting clear guidelines on developing a collection that is more reflective of the South African society. This will continue to be an important guide for WHAG's art acquisitions process.

2.5 Digitization of the Collection

The digitization of the WHAG collection into a digital format will be integral to the Gallery's goal of ensuring access for all. This initiative will enable citizens in the far reaches of the country to have visual access in digital form. In addition, the initiative will further contribute to the field of South African Art history by providing scholars with access to a comprehensive digital archive and other aspects of the collection. The preservation of the collection remains a priority and as such concerted efforts have been made to systematically assess the collection. The data will provide an important base to understand the health of the collection and to identify better conservation strategies.

2.6 Public Engagement

WHAG's public engagement programmes focus on women, children and individuals with disabilities and reaches audiences beyond the confines of its physical structure. Despite these efforts, perceptions of exclusionary practices and the promotion of elitism continue to plague WHAG. As such, greater efforts will be made to enhance the existing public engagement programmes as well as introducing a new programme targeted at involving local artists and the youth in public art to address these misconceptions. The interaction and partnerships with local communities and stakeholders will be paramount to create a Gallery that is relevant to the communities it serves. However, insufficient staff capacity impedes the public engagement efforts and this undermines the perception of the institution by its audience and the engagement growth strategy.

2.6.1 Temporary loan exhibitions

Temporary loan exhibitions form an integral component of the WHAG's public programmes as they do not just provide the local visitors with access to works of art excluded from the permanent collection, but also provide an opportunity to obtain insight and exposure into the talent that is showcased on national platforms,

2.6.2 Permanent collection exhibitions

Permanent collection exhibitions provide WHAG with an opportunity to showcase works rarely seen by the general public on a more regular basis. In addition to this, school going learners and tertiary education students within the local communities are provided with a rare opportunity to view works first-hand that form part of the school curriculum or syllabus.

2.6.3 WHAG Prison Project

The WHAG, in its goal to mainstream the role of arts, culture, and heritage within firstly the local community and the rest of the country, acknowledges the challenges facing women in society and as such the WHAG Prison Project aims to create opportunities to empower female offenders in the Kimberley prison system by providing creative and interactive ways to express themselves through arts and crafts. The programme also provides invaluable skills that offer potential opportunities for entrepreneurial ventures once the offenders are reintegrated into society. This long-standing programme is instrumental in providing the offenders with entrepreneurial training through local partnerships, once re-integrated into society.

2.6.4 Legacy Project: If Walls Could Talk

This WHAG public art projects broadly groups together the Community Art and Cultural Development (CACD) projects that are implemented by the WHAG. The unifying objectives of reconciliation, community development, fostering national identity as well as investing in social cohesion underscores the projects designed under this programme. These initiatives involve public and private sector partnerships to strategically invest in critical social outcomes needed in the Northern Cape province. It, furthermore, provides an opportunity for skills transferal and the involvement of local artists in community art projects that situate their practice within reach of and for the benefit of the community at large.

2.6.5 Keadumela

Children in the marginalized communities of Kimberley remain at a disadvantage when it comes to access to art related services. The purpose of this project is to reduce the gap and to provide early childhood development programmes, aimed at preparing pre-school children with art-related activities and to develop stimulation. This programme will continue for the next five years and beyond for as long as it remains relevant to the communities it serves.

2.6.6 MTN/WHAG Outreach Programme

In the past eighteen (18) years WHAG has been instrumental in taking art to marginalized communities throughout the Northern Cape. The project provides much-needed access to arts for school-going learners by showcasing visual arts and engaging the learners in art workshops. This programme also aims to assist the learners to develop an interest in reading through the mobile library. This programme also provides a vital opportunity for those who would not otherwise be exposed to the arts and culture heritage and gives the children an opportunity to be exposed to technology. This is a joint project of the WHAG and MTN.

2.6.7 WHAG Arts and Disability Project: Yonder

The Yonder Centre for Adults with Intellectual Disabilities has been an important local community partnership that the WHAG has developed over several years. The programme is aimed at providing a creative outlet for individuals with varied intellectual challenges by engaging in the art programme.

2.6.8 WHAGfilm

The internationally respected visual language of film serves as a vital tool to engage with national and global issues. By showcasing South African, African and International films to local audiences this programme contributes to a greater understanding and tolerance of the lived realities of individuals living within and beyond our African borders. Film at WHAG has also been an integral component in assisting learners and teachers with subjects based on their school curriculum. WHAG will continue showcasing the best films that the African continent has to offer for as long as it serves the community.

2.6.9 Residency Programme

The WHAG residency programme is being re-introduced and will provide an important opportunity for artists and arts practitioners from the African continent to develop a body of work over a period of one month. Amongst other, the resident artist will be expected to hold a small exhibition, public discussions or workshops. The programme will serve a vital role in providing local artists with an opportunity to engage with artists beyond their borders and to receive knowledge and skills for their professional development.

2.6.10 Specialist Reference Library

WHAG remains the only national art museum in the region and as such serves an important role in providing the general public, learners and tertiary education students with reference information related to South African and African artists. The continued acquisition of books, catalogues and newsletters situates these specialized resources within reach of the local community and as a facility supporting research serves the generation of new local art historical content.

2.6.11 SPU

With the recent addition of the Sol Plaatje University (SPU) to the Higher Education Portfolio of South Africa, the WHAG has proved its value as a visual literacy ambassador and resource hub with broad-based applicability to the educational sector. The WHAG Library serves the SPU and the Northern Cape Community at large through maintaining the only subject library for the visual arts, often frequented by staff and learners of the SPU. In addition to this the WHAG supports the students in Heritage Studies at the SPU, by providing them with an archive of artworks.

3. UPDATES TO RELEVANT COURT RULINGS

This is not applicable to the William Humphreys Art Gallery

PART B: OUR STRATEGIC FOCUS

1. UPDATED SITUATIONAL ANALYSIS

The WHAG's strategic goals are guided by the President's seven (7) Key priorities and the Department of Sport, Arts and Culture's overarching mandate to contribute to the development of an inclusive society that encourages the promotion of social cohesion and nation-building. The Northern Cape and specifically Kimberley in which the Gallery is situated continues to be hampered by a legacy of racial segregation, poverty, and exclusion from socio-economic opportunities of previously and currently excluded groups. The WHAG has been in existence for 69 (sixty-nine) years and has been affected by these legacies.

Transformation is an ongoing necessary process that requires change. The 2023/2024 will continue with the implementation Human Resource Management, financial and administration reforms including operational systems, and processes that result from the review and development of policies. In addition, the Gallery in recent years has sought more proactive ways to combat these glaring legacies through its various public programmes and projects offered to the general public such as exhibitions that showcase the creative production of artists from more diverse backgrounds, that provide an insight into the lived realities of the people that make up South Africa. The Gallery will continue making the strides that it had been making towards establishing partnerships with local entrepreneurs to provide a platform to showcase their talent to audiences. These events attract visitors from local communities that previously have not stepped into the WHAG premises.

2. EXTERNAL ENVIRONMENT ANALYSIS

In the 2023/24 financial year, WHAG will focus on assessing the responsiveness to current national and global factors that have affected the delivery of services to stakeholders. The seven areas identified by the President as priorities are as follows: -

- Economic transformation and job creation
- Education, skills and health
- Consolidating the social wage through reliable and quality basic services
- Spatial integration, human settlements and local government
- Social cohesion and safe communities
- A capable, ethical and development state
- A better Africa and World

Out of the seven key priorities WHAG identified the following three (3) that speak to its core mandate:

Economic transformation and job creation

This key priority is unpacked through WHAG's Prison Project which is an initiative that provides marketable craft skills to female offenders in the Kimberly area. The women can make use of these skills by creating marketable products for sale.

Social cohesion and nation building

The WHAG exhibition programme has in recent times made a concerted effort to showcase the work of artists from diverse socio-economic backgrounds. In addition to the workshops and public discussions, the programme has contributed to encouraging social-cohesion and nation-building by attracting visitors from varied backgrounds that would not have previously engaged with the artworks.

A better Africa and World

WHAG's new acquisitions policy addresses the under-representation of Black African creative productions by ensuring that artists who are from excluded communities or under-represented on conventional platforms are supported through the acquisition of their art works into the WHAG collections.

WHAG's membership to the International Committee of Museums (ICOM) will provide access to global museum best practice and provide its staff with access to professional development through its exchange programmes and conferences hosted annually.

2.1 Unemployment

WHAG, in its quest to contribute to the alleviation of the high unemployment rates in South Africa will partner with tertiary institutions to provide youth with additional hands-on training and experience in the museum sector through workshops and work-place learning to assist in preparing them for the job market. In addition to this, WHAG's Prison project, provides marketable arts and craft skills to female offenders within the Kimberley prison system who then use these newly acquired skills to create sellable products that can financially support their families upon release from the correctional centre.

WHAG has made a concerted effort to secure its goods and services mainly from organizations and individuals from previously excluded communities through its procurement processes. The development of an Acquisitions policy that mandates WHAG to acquire artworks from emerging artists from previously excluded communities who are not represented by formal art galleries is an important step to provide much needed income to artists who are on the margins of the arts sector.

2.2 The 4th Industrial Revolution

The 4th (fourth) Industrial Revolution envisions a society in which there is a greater fusion and convergence between digital technologies, virtual reality and artificial intelligence (AI). The incorporation of technology into the daily operations of WHAG has begun using iCloud technology that will safely allow WHAG to store its data virtually providing for greater assurance of its safety and security.

WHAG will also commit to expand and lead in incorporating interdisciplinary, experimental and media arts into the collection (directly linked to technological advances from the Fourth Industrial Revolution) through commission or purchasing of work that utilizes technology as a medium itself.

The digitization of WHAG's collection in the next 5 (five) years will also allow for greater access beyond the four walled confines of the physical building; thereby contributing to ensuring greater inclusivity in the dissemination of knowledge through web-based technologies. Digitization also supports the conservation effort of the WHAG collections by minimizing risks associated with handling artworks.

WHAG is committed to make greater effort to utilize other forms of media such as social media to ensure that there is a greater awareness of its activities, programmes and available opportunities to the community.

3. INTERNAL ENVIRONMENT ANALYSIS

WHAG reviewed the organization's internal environment to assess and uncover the strategies required to make improvements in all areas of its daily operations. WHAG will build on its strengths and address weaknesses to show tangible evidence of change and improvement by ensuring the implementation of its core mandate and the actualization of the national imperatives, as outlined in government's 7 (seven) key priority areas.

The WHAG will promote the continued strengthening of its internal controls through policy development and improving of its supply chain processes.

3.1. Skills Development

Post-1994 South Africa continues to have unacceptably high levels of inequality in all levels of society with the gap between the rich and the poor at an all-time high. Within our sector, museum expertise is a rarity with far too many skills being outsourced to international candidates. Greater effort needs to be made to develop tertiary training and development of museum practitioners in South Africa. The WHAG will achieve this by strengthening and continuing to partner with its local secondary and tertiary institutions by engaging students in hands on classes and workshops. Thereby transferring knowledge and skills to the next generation of museum practitioners.

3.2 Human Resources

WHAG continues to face human resource challenges. With a small staff complement roles and responsibilities have become blurred as the necessary staff to ensure the adequate day to day activities are lacking. As such WHAG runs the risk of good governance processes not adequately adhered to. WHAG is in the process of securing the services of an HR consultant to assist in the much-needed development of policies and job evaluations to ensure compliance in line with best practices.

3.3 Infrastructure

Since the opening of the William Humphreys Art Gallery in 1952 very little has been done to improve the infrastructure of the building. Renovations to its Humidity, Ventilation and Air Conditioning (HVAC) systems, leaking roofs, old electric wiring, deteriorating pipe system which renders the buildings' water not fit for human consumption. The WHAG will continue working on improving the outdated lighting and additional storage spaces that is sorely needed. The securing of a project manager to orchestrate renovations once done, will place WHAG on par with international museums and ensure we meet the stipulated minimum requirements.

PART C: MEASURING PERFORMANCE

INSTITUTIONAL PROGRAMME PERFORMANCE INFORMATION

WHAG conducts its activities through three programme areas namely:

Programme 1: Administration

Programme 2: Collection Management

Programme 3: Public Engagement

1.1 Programme 1: Administration

1.1.1 Purpose:

To ensure efficient and effective governance and oversight accountability within WHAG in line with the Executive Authority;

To ensure that the WHAG is compliant with Legislation and Accounting Standards;

The Administration programme contributes to the following strategic outcome-oriented goals; An effective and efficient arts, culture and heritage (ACH) sector.

This programme aims to ensure the Gallery operates in a timeous manner, adheres to Legislation and has efficient financial management processes. In addition, it aims to ensure ethical conduct, corporate governance best practice and the monitoring of institutional performance. This is to ensure that WHAG puts in place sound financial management practices and policies including Human Resource Management (HRM) and Administration to ensure good corporate governance.

The following table provides information on the contribution of outputs to achieving outcomes.

1.2 PROGRAMME 2: COLLECTIONS MANAGEMENT

1.2.1 Purpose:

- To manage and grow a collection that is representative of the people of South Africa
- To correct unethical collection practices
- To promote and encourage relevant research development related to the collection
- The Collection Management programme contributes to the following strategic outcome-oriented goals:
- The transformation and development of the WHAG permanent collection
- The preservation of the collection
- The digitization of the permanent collection

Acquisition – The WHAG collection houses some of the nation’s most valued art objects that span the breadth of medium, technique and time periods. Inclusive representation and demographic diversity of the collected artists and artworks requires improvement as such the institutions Collection Policy subscribes to supporting artists from various disadvantaged communities to be more reflective of the current South African society.

Preservation and Conservation management – The acquisition of an artwork into the permanent collection follows two strategies to ensure its longevity and safety. One requires the safe storage or exhibition display of an art object and the other requires specialized processes to repair art objects that have been damaged with time, environmental conditions or human error. To combat these risks the WHAG continues to provide and support the ongoing training of key staff members in the specialized field of conservation. In addition, regular site visits by conservation specialists provide ongoing invaluable assessment of the condition of each art object.

Digitization – The systematic archiving of the collection in the form of a photographic archive will be integral to the institutions goal of ensuring access to all. By including information on the contents of the WHAG collection online this initiative will enable citizens in the far reaches of the country to have visual access through a digital form. In addition, the initiative will further contribute to the field of South African art history by providing scholars with access to a comprehensive digital archive of the collection.

4. EXPLANATION OF PLANNED PERFORMANCE OVER THE MEDIUM-TERM PERIOD

The WHAG's three (3) programme areas aid in the implementation of the Gallery's strategic objectives in the following ways:

4.1 Programme 1: Administration

The efforts by Management and Council to ensure the accurate, efficient, and transparent reporting of the WHAG's financial management progress and processes ensures that the Gallery continues to adhere to good corporate governance, strategy implementation and the monitoring of institutional compliance.

4.2 Programme 2: Collections Management

The acquisition of South African artworks from leading emerging and established artists into the WHAG's permanent collection serves to promote the diverse creative production of visual arts within the country and beyond. By implementing best practice systems in the areas of preservation, conservation and digitization the WHAG will ensure that the collection is enjoyed for generations.

4.3 Programme 3: Public Engagement

Through the development of programmes with an emphasis on the youth and individuals within vulnerable sectors of society, programme three (3) provides the WHAG with the opportunity to showcase the creative arts through local, national and international partnerships that promote the role of the sector as an important platform to educate and empower South Africans of varied lived realities.

The WHAG has over the past five (5) years focused on strengthening the existing programmes that are aimed at the empowerment, education, and access of women, children, and individuals with disabilities. The below programmes showcase the WHAG's contribution to fulfilling its institutional mandate and its progress towards the government's National Development Plan (NDP): Vision 2030.

5. PROGRAMME RECOURSE CONSIDERATIONS

The efficient and effective implementation of financial management processes along with the strategic utilization of its limited Human Resources will aid the Gallery in achieving its objectives. The outlined resources form an integral component in ensuring that the Gallery continues to be an invaluable repository of South Africa's artistic and cultural heritage through its implementation of engaging an inclusive public programme that seeks to positively contribute to the lived realities of all South Africans.
