MEMORANDUM ON OBJECTS OF THE PREVENTION AND COMBATING OF TRAFFICKING IN PERSONS BILL, 2012

1. PURPOSE OF BILL

The purpose of the Bill is to give effect to South Africa's obligations as a party to international instruments, such as the United Nations Protocol to Prevent, Suppress and Punish Trafficking in Persons, especially Women and Children (the Trafficking in Persons Protocol), which address the issue of trafficking in persons, by bringing its domestic laws in line with the standards set by those instruments. The Bill is a result of an investigation and a report by the South African Law Reform Commission (SALRC) on Trafficking in Persons (project 131).

2. OBJECTS OF THE BILL

The objects of the Bill are to—

- (a) give effect to the Republic's obligations concerning the trafficking of persons in terms of international agreements;
- (b) provide for the prosecution of persons who commit offences referred to in this act and to provide for appropriate penalties;
- (c) provide for the prevention of trafficking in persons and for the protection and assistance of victims of trafficking;
- (d) provide services to victims of trafficking;
- (e) provide for effective enforcement measures;
- (f) provide for the co-ordinated implementation, application and administration of the Act; and
- (g) combat trafficking in persons in a co-ordinated manner.

3. DISCUSSION OF THE BILL

3.1 Clause 1: Definitions

Some of the definitions in the Bill describe the core elements of trafficking in persons and are used where offences are created. The following definitions are examples: "abuse of vulnerability"; "debt bondage"; "exploitation"; "forced marriage"; "forced labour"; "removal of body parts"; "servitude"; "sexual exploitation"; "slavery"; "victim of trafficking".

3.2 Clause 2: Interpretation of certain expressions

Clause 2 provides for the interpretation of certain expressions used in the Bill.

3.3 Clause 3: Objects of the Act

Clause 3 sets out the objects of the Act as indicated in paragraph 2 above.

3.4 Clause 4: Trafficking in persons

Clause 4 provides for the offence of trafficking in persons.

3.5 Clause 5: Debt bondage

Clause 5 criminalises conduct that causes another person to enter into debt bondage, which is a form of control over a victim of trafficking.

3.6 Clause 6: Possession, destruction, confiscation, concealment of or tampering with documents

Clause 6 criminalises the possession and the intentional destruction, confiscation, concealment of or tampering with any identification document or travel document of a victim of trafficking because it is a form of control over a victim of trafficking.

3.7 Clause 7: Using the services of victims of trafficking

An effective strategy to combat the trafficking of persons should include measures to combat the demand for the services of victims of trafficking. Clause 7 states that any person who intentionally benefits, financially or otherwise, from the services of a victim of trafficking, knowing or ought reasonably to have known or suspected that the person is a victim of trafficking, is guilty of an offence.

3.8 Clause 8: Conduct facilitating trafficking in persons

The purpose of clause 8 is to combat the demand for the services of victims of trafficking. Clause 8 criminalises conduct which facilitates or promotes the trafficking of persons which includes the intentional lease of property and the use of media and information technology for the purposes of trafficking persons. Under this clause a person who finances, controls or organises the commission of an offence under Chapter 2 of the Bill is also guilty of an offence. Although electronic service providers are not under a general obligation to monitor the data which it transmits or stores or actively seek facts or circumstances which indicate unlawful activity, they are required to take reasonable steps to prevent the use of their services for the hosting of information that facilitates trafficking in persons and when they become aware or are aware of electronic communications which contain such information, they must report the electronic communications identity number from which those electronic communications originated and other particulars to identify the person or service provider from who or which the communications originated, to the South African Police Service (SAPS). Electronic service providers must take such reasonable steps as are necessary to preserve any evidence as may be required by the relevant investigation and prosecuting authorities and must take the reasonable steps necessary to prevent continued access to those electronic communications. A further safeguard for electronic communications service providers is that they will not be liable for loss or damage as a result of action taken in good faith when taking steps to prevent continued access to electronic communications.

3.9 Clause 9: Liability of carriers

Clause 9 criminalises the act by which a carrier transports a person within or across the borders of the Republic, knowing that that person is a victim of trafficking. A carrier who suspects on reasonable grounds that any of its passengers is a victim of trafficking, must report that suspicion to a police official and failure to do so is an offence.

3.10 Clause 10: Involvement in offences under Chapter 2

Clause 10 creates the offence of involvement in offences under Chapter 2 of the Bill. It provides that a person who attempts to commit, incites or in other manners acquires another person to commit, or who conspires with another person to commit, an offence under Chapter 2, is guilty of an offence.

3.11 Clause 11: Liability of persons for offences under Chapter 2

Clause 11(1) provides that it is no defence to a charge of contravening any of the offences in Chapter 2 that a child has consented to the intended exploitation or to the action which was intended to constitute an offence or that the exploitation or that the exploitation or action did not occur, even if none of the means referred to in clause 4 have been used. Likewise it is no defence that an adult person has consented to the intended exploitation or action which was intended to constitute an offence or that the exploitation or action did not occur, if one or more of the means referred to in clause 4 have been used. Liability for the offences under Chapter 2 is extended to include employers or principals. Licences or registrations of employers may be revoked or cancelled if found guilty of an offence under this Chapter.

3.12 Clause 12: Extra-territorial jurisdiction

The crime of trafficking in persons is regarded as an international crime. Clause 12 gives the courts in the Republic extra-territorial jurisdiction, in respect of an act committed outside the Republic which would have constituted an offence if committed in the Republic. The High Court is provided with universal jurisdiction in respect of an offence in the Bill, if the person to be charged is, after the commission of the offence, present in the territory of the Republic or in its territorial waters or on board a ship, vessel, off-shore installation, a fixed platform or aircraft registered or required to be registered in the Republic. This means that the High Court has jurisdiction irrespective of where the offence was committed, by whom it was committed or against whom it was committed.

3.13 Clause 13: Penalties

Clause 13 contains the penalties in respect of the offences in the Bill. Of importance is that clause 4(1) is subject to the minimum sentencing legislation and a fine not exceeding R100 million or imprisonment, including life imprisonment, could be imposed. Clause 4(2) also carries a fine not exceeding R 100 million or imprisonment, including life imprisonment.

3.14 Clause 14: Factors to be considered in sentencing

Clause 14 lists factors the court must consider when imposing a sentence. The serious nature of trafficking in persons and the related offences should be impressed on the courts so as to ensure appropriate sentences. Clause 14 provides, among others, for the following factors: The significance of the perpetrator's role in the trafficking process; previous convictions relating to the crime of trafficking in persons or related offences; the conditions in which the victim was kept and the period the victim was held captive; whether the victim suffered abuse and the effects thereof on the victim; whether the offence was part of the activities of an organised criminal group; and whether the victim was a child.

3.15 Protective measures for purposes of investigation and prosecution in respect of foreign victims of trafficking

Clause 15 is aimed at providing a foreign victim of trafficking the opportunity to remain in the Republic for a recovery and reflection period not exceeding three months. It provides that a visitor's visa in terms of the Immigration Act, 2002 (Act No. 13 of 2002) may be issued to a foreigner who is suspected of being a victim of trafficking and who has been reported to a police official and who might be able to assist in a police investigation. This would enable a foreigner to access the programmes referred to in clause 26 with the view to enabling him or her to make informed decisions regarding his or her cooperation with law enforcement and prosecuting authorities. If that foreigner is unwilling or unable to cooperate, his or her circumstances must be investigated to determine whether it is safe to return him or her to the country of origin or country from where he or she has been trafficked.

3.16 Clause 16: Facilitation of police investigation or prosecution in case of foreign witnesses

Clause 16 addresses the status of a victim of trafficking who is willing to co-operate with authorities in the investigation and prosecution of a case of trafficking in persons. A visitor's visa may only be issued to such a person if the National Commissioner of SAPS or the National Director of Public Prosecutions (NDPP) confirms in writing that the person is required for purposes of investigation or prosecution of a person who is alleged to have committed an offence under the Bill. Provision is further made for the extension or withdrawal of such a visitor's visa.

3.17 Clause 17: Application for rights of permanent residence in terms of section 31(2)(b) of Immigration Act

If a foreign victim of trafficking has assisted the SAPS or NPA before or during criminal proceedings, he or she may be assisted by the National Commissioner of SAPS or the NDPP to apply for the rights of permanent residence in terms of the Immigration Act, if as a result of that victim's assistance, the victim may be harmed or killed if repatriated to his or her country of origin or the country from where he or she has been trafficked.

3.18 Clause 18: Reporting of and dealing with child victim of trafficking

Clause 18(1) places a duty on everyone (except a legal practitioner) to report a child who they know or reasonably suspect to be a victim of trafficking, to a police official, for investigation, despite any law, policy or code of conduct prohibiting the disclosure of personal information. The phrase "despite any law, policy or code of conduct" seeks to enable professional persons to report child victims without fear of contravening the law, policies and codes of conduct relevant to their professions. A police official to whom a report is made or who suspects a child to be a victim of trafficking may use such force as may be necessary to enter premises if the safety of a child is at risk; must deal with the child in terms of section 110 of the Children's Act and may place the child in temporary safe care pending the transfer of that child to a designated child protection organisation or provincial department of social development. The latter must assess whether the child is a victim of trafficking. Certain protective measures of the Children's Act, 2005 (Act No. 38 of 2005), also apply to the child. Failure to report knowledge of or a suspicion that a child is a victim of trafficking in persons is an offence.

3.19 Clause 19: Reporting of and dealing with adult victim of trafficking

Clause 19(1) places a duty on any person who comes into contact with an adult person during the execution of their duties, whom they know is or suspect to be a victim of trafficking, to report that adult to a police official. Clause 19 further provides that a person other than those mentioned in subclause (1) (for example a member of the public) may report an adult person who is reasonably suspected to be a victim of trafficking to a police official. A police official to whom a report is made or who suspects that an adult person is a victim of trafficking may use the necessary force to gain entry to premises if the victim's safety is at risk and must take such a victim into protective custody, with that victim's consent, if there is an immediate threat to the safety of that person. A police official must refer that adult to an accredited organisation and notify the provincial department of social development, pending a police investigation. A police official may place an adult person in temporary safe care pending the transfer of that person to an accredited organisation. A police official must render such assistance to the person as may be necessary in the circumstances, for example, obtaining of medical treatment. The provincial department of social development must assess whether the adult person is a victim of trafficking and issue him or her with a letter of recognition to that effect. A letter of recognition may be withdrawn if information shows that a person was not a victim of trafficking at the time the letter of recognition was issued. Failure to comply with subclause (1) is an offence.

3.20 Clause 20: Appeals against decision of provincial head

Clause 20 provides for an appeal procedure for a person affected by a decision of the provincial head not to issue a letter of recognition or to withdraw such a letter, wishes to lodge an appeal.

3.21 Clause 21: Provision of health care services to a foreigner who is a victim of trafficking

Clause 21 aims to inform a foreign victim of trafficking that he or she is entitled to public health care services as provided for in section 27 of the Constitution.

3.22 Clause 22: Criminal prosecution of victim of trafficking

Clause 22 is aimed at protecting victims of trafficking by providing that the prosecutor, when deciding whether to prosecute a victim of trafficking, he or she must give due consideration to whether the offence was committed as a direct result of that person's position as a victim of trafficking. If, during a criminal prosecution of a child or adult person, the prosecutor suspects the child or adult person to be a victim of trafficking and that the offence was committed as a direct result of that person's position as a victim of trafficking, that child or adult must be referred to the provincial department of social development for an assessment whether they are victims of trafficking. A letter of recognition or a finding by the provincial department of social development that a child is a victim of trafficking serves as a ground for the withdrawal of the prosecution or the discharge of the victim, if the prosecutor is satisfied that the offence was committed as a direct result of the person's position as a victim of trafficking. The Director of Public Prosecutions must authorize the institution of a criminal prosecution or continuation of a criminal prosecution.

3.23 Clause 23: Unauthorised access to and disclosure of information

Clause 23 is aimed at the further protection of a victim of trafficking in that the unauthorised access to a victim of trafficking and the disclosure of certain information regarding a victim of trafficking is an offence.

3.24 Clause 24: Accreditation of organisations to provide services

Clause 24 deals with the accreditation of an organisation to provide services to adult victims of trafficking. Whilst child victims of trafficking are covered by all the protective measures set out in the Child Care Act, 1983 (Act No. 74 of 1983), and the Children's Act, currently there is not a similar system in place for adult victims of trafficking. The Minister of Social Development must by means of regulations, prescribe a system of accreditation of organisations to provide services to adult victims of trafficking and the circumstances in which accredited organisations qualify for financial assistance subject to available resources. The system must contain criteria for the evaluation of the programmes offered by organisations to ensure compliance with the norms and minimum standards required by this Bill, mechanisms to monitor those programmes and measures for the removal of organisations, where appropriate. A list containing the particulars of accredited organisations must be made available to role players.

3.25 Clause 25: Norms and minimum standards

Clause 25 requires the Minister of Social Development to prescribe the norms and minimum standards with which accredited organisations must comply. These norms and standards must deal with, among others, the safety of victims, access to adequate health care and where victims have children in their care, a safe environment for those children. The clandestine nature of trafficking in persons and the lack of a co-ordinated response to the problem, make it difficult to provide reliable statistics on the number of persons trafficked to and from the Republic. The collecting of information and information sharing is therefore important to effectively address the problem. The Trafficking in Persons Protocol also requires State Parties to share information. Clause 25 therefore also requires the accredited organisation to collect and collate certain information and to provide an annual report to the Director-General: Social Development, who must in turn report to the Director-General: Justice and Constitutional Development.

3.26 Clause 26: Programme offered by accredited organisation

Clause 26 provides that the contents of a programme to be offered by an accredited organisation must include the provision of accommodation, counseling, rehabilitation and reintegration services and may include the provision of rehabilitation and therapeutic services or education and skills development training. It must also offer a programme aimed at the reception, care and development of a child in the care of an adult victim of trafficking. An accredited organisation may refer an adult victim to an organisation, which might not necessarily be an accredited organisation that offers rehabilitation and therapeutic services or education and skills development training.

3.27 Clause 27: Access to programme offered by accredited organisation

Clause 27 provides that a person, who has been issued with a letter of recognition, is entitled to access the programmes offered by an accredited organisation.

3.28 Clause 28: Plan to address needs of victim of trafficking

Clause 28 provides that an accredited organisation must draw up a plan to address the needs of a victim. This plan is necessary to manage the victim's needs in a structured manner.

3.29 Clause 29: Compensation to victim of trafficking

Clause 29 provides for the court to order compensation to any victim of trafficking. Our current criminal justice system does not provide for victims of trafficking to claim damages from their traffickers, although provisions in some Acts allow victims to claim compensation for offences in terms those Acts. The Trafficking in Persons Protocol requires State Parties to put measures in place that offer victims of trafficking the possibility of compensation. Clause 29 provides that the court may, in addition to any sentence it may impose in terms of the Bill, order that the person convicted of the offence pay compensation to a victim for damages, injuries (physical or psychological), being infected with a life-threatening disease or loss of income or support. Section 300 of the Criminal Procedure Act, 1977 (Act No. 51 of 1977) applies with the necessary changes required by the context.

3.30 Clause 30: Compensation to State

Clause 30 provides that the court may, in addition to any punishment in terms of this Bill or in addition to any order for compensation to a victim of trafficking, or where the court finds that a carrier must pay expenses in terms of clause 9(4), and on application of the prosecutor, make an order for payment by the convicted person or the carrier to the Criminal Assets Recovery Account of an amount in compensation for expenses in connection with the care, accommodation, transportation, return and repatriation of a victim of the offence.

3.31 Clause 31: Repatriation of victim of trafficking from Republic

Clause 31 provides for structured repatriation procedures for victims of trafficking which take cognisance of the safety of victims during the repatriation process and in the countries to which they are to be repatriated. Clause 31 does not prohibit the voluntary repatriation of an adult victim of trafficking to his or her country of origin or country from where he or she has been trafficked, on condition that the victim has been given information on the protective measures offered to victims in terms of this Bill and a clear explanation of repatriation procedures.

3.32 Clause 32: Assistance to foreign victim of trafficking

Clause 32 provides for a process to ensure the safety of a victim in the country to which he or she is to be repatriated. It places a duty on the Director-General: Social Development to take reasonable steps to find suitable family members or an organisation that renders assistance to victims of trafficking in the country to which a victim of trafficking is to be repatriated and to provide that information to the Director-General: Home Affairs.

3.33 Clause 33: Repatriation of suspected victim of trafficking to Republic

Clause 33 provides for the reception of a person who is suspected of being a victim of trafficking and who is repatriated to the Republic. 3.34 Clause 34: Return of adult victim of trafficking within Republic

Clause 34 provides that an accredited organisation may not return an adult victim of trafficking to a place within the Republic from where he or she has been trafficked without giving due consideration to the safety of the person during the process of returning him or her and to the possibility that the person may be harmed, killed or trafficked again if returned to that place. An accredited organisation is also required to find suitable family members to whom a victim can be returned and who are willing to assist the victim. If the victim does not have the financial means to travel to the place from where he or she was trafficked, an accredited organisation must facilitate the return in a manner to be prescribed.

3.35 Clause 35: Escorting of child victim of trafficking

Clause 35 allows the Director-General: Social Development to authorise at State expense an adult to escort a child victim from the place the child was found to the place within the Republic from where the child was trafficked or to the child's country of origin or the country from where the child was trafficked, if it is considered in the best interest of the child.

3.36 Clause 36: Trafficking of child by parent, guardian or other person who has parental responsibilities and rights in respect of child

Clause 36 provides that if a children's court has reason to believe that a parent or guardian of a child or any other person who has parental responsibilities and rights in respect of a child, has trafficked the child, the court may suspend such rights and responsibilities and place the child in temporary safe care, pending a children's court inquiry. This, however, does not exclude that person's liability for committing any offence under Chapter 2.

3.37 Clause 37: International co-operation

Clause 37 provides for the President to enter into agreements with foreign states in respect of trafficking in persons matters. Since the Republic has ratified the Trafficking in Persons Protocol, it is obliged to adopt measures to prevent the trafficking in persons, ensure the protection of victims of trafficking and the prosecution of traffickers, including assisting other State Parties in this regard. International co-operation with State Parties that are not parties to the above-mentioned Protocol is, however, also necessary for the effective combating, prevention and prosecution of trafficking in persons.

Clause 39 requires the Director-General: Social Development to submit an annual report to the Director-General: Justice and Constitutional Development on all cases of abuse or deliberate neglect of children and all findings by children's courts that a child is in need of care and protection, insofar as such cases and findings relate to child victims of trafficking.

4. CONSULTATION

- 4.1 During its investigations, the SALRC consulted widely on the Bill. Responses were received from, among others, the legal fraternity, various Government Departments, individual magistrates, academics and numerous NGO's. The SALRC submitted the Bill to the Directors-General of the Departments of Foreign Affairs (International Relations and Cooperation), Home Affairs, Social Development, Labour, Health and Safety and Security (Police) for their consideration and input. These Departments were informed that, given the fact that the Bill imposes certain duties on them, the Commission would like to provide them with another opportunity to comment on the Bill before it is approved by the Commission. These Departments' attention was drawn to the provisions of the Bill impacting on their line functions. Inputs on the proposed Bill were received from the Departments of Foreign Affairs, Home Affairs, Social Development, Labour and Safety and Security. Foreign Affairs and Social Development stated that they agree with the contents of the Bill and that they had no further inputs. Inputs received from the other departments were incorporated into the Bill where necessary.
- 4.2 When the Bill was published for public comments in May 2009, comments were received from numerous NGO's and civil society organisations, the Departments of Home Affairs and Social Development, the Commission for Gender Equality, a Provincial House of Traditional Leaders and the South African Women Lawyers Association.

- 4.3 The Portfolio Committee on Justice and Constitutional Development held public hearings and numerous meetings during which stakeholder departments were given the opportunity to make inputs.

5. IMPLICATIONS FOR PROVINCES

The Bill requires that a police official must refer victims of trafficking to a child protection organisation or an accredited organisation, as the case may be, or to a provincial department of social development to be taken care of.

6. FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS FOR STATE

There will be substantial financial implications for the government departments which will be involved in the implementation of the Act, once it has been passed.

7. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

- 7.1 The State Law Advisers and the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development are of the opinion that this Bill should be dealt with in terms of the procedure established by section 75 of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996, since it contains no provisions to which the procedure set out in sections 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.
- 7.2 We are also of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer this Bill to the National House of Traditional Leaders in terms of section 18(1)(a) of the Traditional Leadership and Governance Framework Act, 2003 (Act No. 41 of 2003), since it does not contain provisions pertaining to customary law or customs of traditional communities.
