14 September 2010,

Dear Mr Speaker

ACCESSION TO THE AFRICAN CHARTER ON DEMOCRACY, ELECTIONS AND GOVERNANCE

Cabinet approved, on 14 May 2008, that the Charter on Democracy, Elections and Governance be submitted to Parliament for ratification in accordance with the provisions of Section 231 (2) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996 (Act 108 of 1996).

Section 231 (2) of the Constitution stipulates that before an international agreement can become binding to the Republic it must be approved by both Houses of Parliament which are the National Assembly and the National Council of Provinces, agreeing to its accession or ratification. In order for both Houses of Parliament to approve the accession, it must be tabled in both Houses of Parliament for consideration. The African Charter on Democracy, Elections and Governance has been found to be consistent with South Africa's domestic law, as well as its international law obligations by the Office of the Chief State Law Advisor in the department of International Relations and Cooperation and in the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development.

I therefore request that the Charter be tabled in both Houses of Parliament in accordance with Section 231 (2) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996 (Act 108 of 1996), for consideration.

Yours sincerely,

Ms Maite Nkoana-Mashabane, MP

Hon. Mr M Sisulu, MP
Speaker of the National Assembly
Parliament
CAPE TOWN

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

The African Charter on Democracy, Elections and Governance is predicated on the objectives and principles enshrined in the African Union (AU) Constitutive Act, particularly Articles 3 and 4, which emphasises the significance of good governance, popular participation, respect for the rule of law and the promotion and protection of human rights.

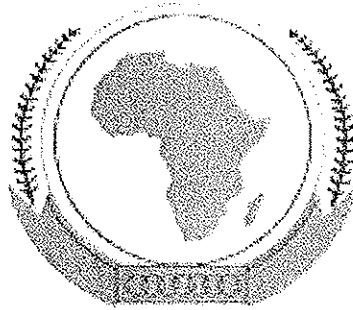

The Charter seeks to entrench and consolidate, in the continent, a political culture of change of power through holding of regular, free, fair and transparent elections which are conducted by competent, independent and impartial national electoral bodies. It thus provide for the enhancement of role of election observation and monitoring in contributing towards the credibility of elections.

The instrument is in line with other mechanisms of the AU which are provided for by relevant Declarations and Decisions, including the 1990 Declaration on the political and socio-economic situation in Africa and the fundamental changes taking place in the world; the 1995 Cairo Agenda for Re-launch of Africa's Economic and Social Development; the 1999 Algiers Declaration on Unconstitutional Changes of Government; the 200 Lomé Declaration for an OAU Response to Unconstitutional Changes of Government; the 2002 OAU/AU Declaration on Principles Governing Democratic Elections in Africa and the 2003 Protocol Relating to the Establishment of the Peace and Security Council of the African Union.

It is against this background that cabinet approved, on 14 May 2008, that the Charter on Democracy, Elections and Governance be submitted to Parliament for ratification in accordance with the provisions of Section 231 (2) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996 (Act 108 of 1996). In this regard, the President signed the Charter during the 14th Ordinary Session of the AU Assembly in February 2010 in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

There are no projected financial or other costs of the Charter on the State

The Charter is not intended to be of a self-executing nature, nor does it contain self-executing provisions.

African Charter on Democracy, Elections and Governance

Your request for legal opinion received on 11 September 2007 refers. In your request for legal opinion you ask us to scrutinise the Charter and also to advise on the process of ratification. Given that the Charter has already been adopted, we assume that it is no longer open for negotiation. We therefore offer no suggested amendments.

While we have avoided offering suggested amendments, we would like to draw your attention to Article 43 sub-Article (2) which provides that the Parties "shall ensure the literacy of citizens". In our view it is impossible for South Africa, or any other Party, to "ensure" that its citizens are literate. All that a Party can do is to put in place measures to achieve this goal. In this respect, it would have been preferable for the drafters to draft this clause using the same language as Article 43 sub-Article (1) which provides that the Parties "shall endeavour to provide" education.

In our view there is nothing in the Charter that is inconsistent with international law or South Africa's specific international obligation. The Charter is, in our view, an international agreement within the meaning of section 231(2) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996. Such agreements require Parliamentary approval in order to enter into force. Furthermore the Charter itself (in Articles 47 and 48) provides for entry into force upon ratification.

You are required to obtain Presidential approval for the signature of the Charter. This is done by a President's minute. In order to facilitate this process please provide this Office with two copies of the Charter, an unsigned President's minute and an explanatory memorandum, all in a z137 folder in order for us to certify the Charter. Once we have certified the Charter Presidential approval for signature can be obtained.

However, the Charter will not come into force on signature. The Charter will only come into force for the Republic on ratification. Parliament must be approached for approval to ratify the Charter. In order to facilitate the process of Parliamentary approval the line function department has to submit the Charter to Cabinet for consent by way of a Cabinet memorandum. This legal opinion as well as the legal opinion from the Department of Justice on the consistency of the Charter with domestic law must accompany the Cabinet Memorandum. The Charter can only be submitted to Parliament for approval once Cabinet has consented to such submission. Once Parliament has approved the ratification of the Charter, an instrument of ratification will need to be prepared in order for the Minister of Foreign Affairs to sign the Instrument. The Instrument will then need to be deposited with the Chairperson of the Commission of the African Union as the depositary.

Best wishes
