	FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS The implementation of the new Act will have financial implications for the Department of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries, in that it will be responsible for the establishment of the Council, appointment of additional registration administration officers, technical advisers, auditors, inspectors, analysts and the Registrar to administer the Act. Appointment of auditors and inspectors is already under way and funds have been made available for this exercise. The analyst function will be outsourced as is currently the practice. Costing has been conducted and in terms of this exercise an annual budget of R2,5 million will have to be made available for the appointment of the Registrar, three additional technical advisers and four additional registration administration officers. This money will be recouped from the services rendered to the industry. Currently, the Department recoups approximately R4 million per annum from the fertilizers, animal feeds and rendering industry on services rendered. The fees for registering animal feeds have already been predetermined and the industry is aware of these fees as they are currently paying them. The new fees for registering home mixers have been estimated at R100 per home mixer for the financial year 2014/15	Clarify the highlighted areas
